PRAIRIE MAN WINS $165,000 IN BIG SWEEP

Out of $556,000 Which Comes to Canada on Grand National, D. Wood, Yorkton, Sask., Tops List With Royal Mail Ticket

Winnings in U.S. Over $4,327,000

Canadian Press

Yorkton, Sask., March 19.—"Just like a hundred and sixty-five thousand dollars"—that was the answer Dave Wood, who held a ticket on Royal Mail, gave today when asked how it felt to be an Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes winner on the Grand National.

Today Mr. Wood celebrated his first year as a resident of Yorkton, 125 miles northeast of Regina, and what a celebration he could have, but there was no sign of any jubilation from the quiet bachelor of fifty-five as he heard word from England: "Royal Mail wins."

GETS COMMISSION

Mr. Wood has been buying sweepstakes tickets for years, and this is his first win. Although he received many offers for an interest in the ticket, he declined all and now is assured a fortune. He not only held the winning ticket, but gets an extra 10 per cent for having sold the ticket to himself.

Immediately the race finished, the whole town was humming and people swarmed to congratulate Mr. Wood. Using the pseudonym, "A Straight," Mr. Wood had drawn ticket 2987346.

In all residents of Canada won more than $556,000 in the big sweep. Dispatches told of two unidentified Canadians, who clicked on the wheel of fortune to obtain $50,000 each. Their tickets were on Fuchs, Belle, which was in third place. "Come Eleven" had ticket P779836 and "Mums," ticket LM300222.

Sixty-five Canadians had drawn horses and each ticket holder will collect $3,000. Two Canadians will receive residual prizes of $31,115, while seventy-three other fortunate residents in the Dominion win $500 consolation prizes.

Among the $3,000 winners are Alexander Steiger of Prince Albert, Sask.; Mrs. Bert Vender, Wayne, Alta.; and twenty-five residents of Stettler, Alta., who will split the award.

NO COMPLAINTS
The twenty-five Stettler residents had roared dreams that $3,000 worth, but today all declared themselves satisfied. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

From Ottawa, messages of this kind will go through the usual state channels from His Excellency the Governor-General, the department is informed.

Commons Committee Is Told Ottawa Government Pays $700 A Year to Guardian in Sooke Area

Canadian Press

Ottawa, March 19.—While the Sooke Harbor Fishing and Packing Company pays $50 each for its four salmon trap licenses per year, the government pays a guardian $700 per year to watch the traps and for a long time hired a boat for his use from the Sooke Harbor company at about $300 per season, the Commons Committee on Marine and Fisheries was told today.

"A family affair," commented A. W. Neill, Independent, Comox-Alberni. When it was stated by A. J. Whitmore, head of the western division of the Fisheries Department, that trap

Hunts Plane for Speck in Pacific

Amelia Earhart, pictured above at the controls of the monoplane in which she is attempting a flight around the world, will have a small target toward which to pilot the machine when she and her three men assistants leave Honolulu, probably late today. Howland Island, 1,332 miles from the Hawaiian city, is only two miles long and half a mile wide. The flight was started from Oakland, California.

No Collusion Found In Simpson Divorce By Judge In London

Charge Brought By Lawyer's Clerk Dismissed Today By Court; Way Cleared For Marriage to Duke of Windsor After Final Decree April 29

Associated Press

London, March 19.—The last apparent barrier to Mrs. Wallis Simpson's absolute divorce and her marriage to the Duke of Windsor was cleared today when a charge of "collusion" was dismissed by the president of the divorce court.

Sir Boyd Merriam, president of the court, directed the charge stricken from the record after the King's Proctor, Sir Thomas Barnes, had informed the court that, treating the case "as any other," he had made a careful investigation and had failed to find any grounds to prevent the absolute divorce of Mrs. Simpson and Ernest Aldrich Simpson.

His action, following the Proctor's surprise move in asking "for instructions" in the case, removed all legal obstacles, except the technical granting of the final decree, April 29. That action will free Mrs. Simpson to wed the man who abdicated the throne because of his love for her.

"The result of the King's Proctor's inquiries," the Attorney-General, Sir Donald Somervell, informed the court:

Considered For Appeal Bench

Special to The Times
Ottawa, March 19.—Resignation of Mr. Justice J. A. Macdonald as chief justice of the British Columbia Court of Appeal is causing considerable speculation as to his successor. No appointment has been made but names under consideration are said to include, W. B. Farris, brother of recently appointed Senator J. W. deB. Farris, C. H. O'Halloran, Victoria; G. McG. Sloan, Attorney-General of British Columbia; George McCrossan, Vancouver, and Gordon Wismer, M.P.F., Vancouver.

"On all aspects of the case was that there was no evidence to justify him in directing intervention."

Ready to Hop From Honolulu

Amelia Earhart Plans Take-off Late Today For Tiny Howland Island

Honolulu, March 19.—A major problem in navigation, plotting an airplane across 1,332 miles of the Pacific to a sand bar two miles long and a half mile wide, lay ahead of Amelia Earhart (Mrs. George Putnam) and her crew today on the second leg of a world-girdling flight.

The aviatix, who set a speed record in flying here from Oakland, Calif., yesterday, said she probably would start for tiny Howland Island late today.

Army fliers pointed out covering most of the distance at night would facilitate the perfect navigation required to hit the island, for navigators Capt. Harry Manning and F. J. Noonan will have stars to guide them. The landing itself could be accomplished after dawn.

"There is every possibility of a takeoff late today," said Miss Earhart. She delayed an immediate start because of weather conditions and to permit a check of the plane's motors.

WRITS OUT FOR SIT-DOWNERS

Detroit Sheriff Waits For More Deputies Before Arresting 6,000 at Chrysler Plants

Associated Press

Detroit, March 19.—Circuit Judge Allan Campbell today ordered issuance of writs of attachment calling for the arrest of 6,000 sit-down strikers who have occupied eight Chrysler Corporation automobile plants for twelve days.

The corporation indicated it would not proceed immediately against high officials of the United Automobile Workers of America who were made respondents, with the strikers, in the injunction which Judge Campbell issued last Monday.

Since 9 a.m. Wednesday, the sit-down strikers have been in violation of the injunction, which ordered them to evacuate the plants by that hour.

NO EARLY MOVE
Sheriff Thomas C. Wilcox said he would make no attempt at ejection of the strikers until he obtains additional deputies or the assistance of the national guard.

"It's simply a question of man power," he said.

"I will serve any writ if I have enough men. I can't do it with my present staff. I have asked the court for 600 special deputies to eject the sit-down strikers. If I get the deputies I will act immediately in the Newton or the Chrysler case."

PICKET LINES

The eight captive Chrysler plants were guarded by augmented picket lines. Members of the "union patrol" and a "flying patrol" of automobiles were prepared to reassemble the 20,000 strike sympathizers who put on a "show of strength" at the strike-held plants Wednesday morning.

Detroit, March 19.—Mystery shrouded a fire reported to have burned several hours early today in a tunnel at the main Dodge plant of the Chrysler Corporation in Hamtramck, where 2,000 sit-down strikers have remained since March 8. It was quickly controlled.

Malahat Opens On Wednesday

Closure of Highway Extended to Complete Improvement Job

The Malahat drive, between Goldstream and the Shawangin Lake cut-off, will be reopened to traffic at 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening next, following repairs, the Department of Public Works announced today.

It had been hoped to have the road open this week-end, but due to the extent of the work, it has been decided to extend the closed period. When the highway is in use again it will be in good shape to handle the Easter week-end traffic.

Close to 100 men are engaged on the job, rushing through the re-grading and straightening of the highway. Fifteen trucks are in use hauling gravel and materials. For this reason, officials explained, it has been thought advisable to keep the road closed until Wednesday evening. If it were opened this week-end traffic would be hampered by the work crews, who are taking advantage of the present good weather to complete the major part of the work.

British Ask About Italians In Spain

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, March 19.—The British government has ordered inquiries into the presence of Italian troops in Spain. The inquiries are not to be limited to investigations on the spot. British representatives, it is understood, are seeking information in Rome itself.

Since the international agreement to ban volunteers for Spain went into effect February 20, press reports have told of alleged landings of Italian "volunteers" and the Spanish government has directly charged that four Italian divisions are engaged in the attack on Madrid.

In the House of Commons, Foreign Secretary Eden, under a bombard-

Rome, March 19.—The Italian newspaper Giornale d'Italia today referred to the Archbishop of Canterbury, Most Rev. George Bell, as an "iniquitous and bloody archbishop who put his hand in the bleeding wounds of Italy, which will not be forgotten despite any gentleman's agreement."

Referring to the Dean of Winchester's remarks on the Italian conquest at an Ethiopian memorial service in London yesterday, the paper said the dean, Very Rev. Edward Selwyn, "counts for less than nothing."

"He looks like a poor provincial canon who stupidly attacks a whole people and nation through a desire to imitate his superiors," the Fascist organ declared.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, the primate, in a speech in the House of Lords recently deplored the massacre of innocent Ethiopians by Italian firing squads following the attempt on the life of Victorio Graziani in Addis Ababa.

Montreal, March 19.—Missing strike ballots today still kept the General Conference Committee of Railwaymen from reaching a verdict on the question of a general walkout of Canadian railroad labor.

Inquiry Into Big Texas Explosion Is Started As Crews Complete Search

HERO TELLS OF DISASTER

John Nelson, 17, Helped Rescuers After Explosion in Texas School

Seventeen-year-old John Nelson, a survivor of the London Consolidated School tragedy in Texas, a hero of the explosion, told the following graphic story of the disaster to the Associated Press correspondent.

New London, Texas, March 19.—Five of my classmates and my teacher were killed. I'm lucky to be telling you this.

I was in the manual arts shop in the basement of the building, working on a lathe. My teacher, Mr. L. Butler, was standing about five feet away. I guess there were fifteen kids in the room.

Suddenly a big mass of sand and what looked like a ball of fire tumbled into the room. Something hit me on the leg. It felt like a "Charley Horse" you get playing football.

RESCUED SISTER

I knocked me down, but I scrambled up and rushed outside. I had a funny sort of feeling and I sat down on the ground. I looked up and saw my sister hanging on a window pane. I climbed up and got her down. She was unconscious and bruised.

Then I ran back into the room and found Jack Stripling, unconscious and with a broken ankle. I dragged him across the room and out into the open. They told me later Jack wouldn't live.

I hurried back into the room. Mr. Butler and five of my friends were dead.

Back outside I helped them locate bodies for about fifteen minutes and then I got sick. They took me home and today I'm in a hospital, getting a serum for possible lockjaw.

MOTHER KILLED

Our family was almost lucky. But my mother, a teacher, was killed. One of my little sisters and a brother, Evelyn, and Thomas, had gotten out of school an hour before and gone home on the bus. My older brother, Don, was in the building but wasn't hurt.

Other stories on the school disaster are on pages 2 and 19.

Belief Accumulated Gas Caused Disaster at New London Indicated by Calling of Chemistry Professor From University of Texas to Testify at Official Investigation; Superintendent Says Odor of Gas Had Been Detected for Weeks

Associated Press

New London, Tex., March 19.—Laborers ceased digging into the ruins of the London Consolidated School this afternoon and wearily said "the job is finished" after 425 bodies had been removed from the pile of debris.

Colonel C. E. Parker, national guard commander, said every brick had been turned in the basement of the explosion-rocked structure and that the job of seeking bodies had ended.

He said cleaning up would take only about an hour longer. The officer said about 425 bodies had been lifted from the pile of steel and brick which resulted from the great explosion yesterday afternoon, and added that "there may have been a few more than that." Worn-out oil field laborers who had toiled for nearly 21 hours, many of them during a slashing rainstorm, stopped work in groups and went home to bereaved wives.

Military authorities viewed the wreckage and called a court of inquiry to fix the cause of the explosion that yesterday buried the children beneath tons of rock and steel.

Major Gaston Howard, Assistant Adjutant General, said a board of six would start functioning late today. Survivors and eye-witnesses would be questioned in an open hearing, he said.

First definite indication that accumulated gas caused the blast that lifted the hundreds of school children, heavy girders and bricks high into the air, came from Major Howard when he said Dr. E. P. Schoch, noted chemistry professor at the University of Texas, had been summoned as a witness. Major Howard said Dr. Schoch, expert on gas explosions who had testified in similar hearings throughout the nation, would be hurried here by state highway police from Austin.

Words on Board Of Ruined School

Associated Press

New London, Tex., March 19.—A lesson in natural resources survived the school blast here yesterday afternoon.

As workmen cleared away the debris today, a blackboard was exposed on which was scrawled the following:

"Oil and natural gas are east Texas' greatest mineral blessings. Without them this school would not be here and none of us would be here learning our lessons." An accumulation of natural gas was blamed by some investigators for the explosion.

Appointed to the board were Col. H. H. Carmichael, director of the Texas Public Safety Department; Capt. Ed Clark, Col. C. E. Parker, National Guard; C. F. Kerr, National Guard, and Capt. Z. E. Combes, who will preside as judge advocate.

ODOR OF GAS
School Superintendent W. C. Shaw, who yesterday stood outside on the grounds and barely escaped death from debris hurled 300 yards in all directions, said it was "quite possible" that unburned gas from the nearby field had accumulated in basement crannies and hollow tile and finally given way to spontaneous combustion. The odor of gas had been strong for weeks, he commented, and several survivors of the tragedy said gas fumes had bothered them recently.

FILE OF DEBRIS
This forenoon rain drove down on the disaster scene, slowing workers who had reached the basement of one wing. Piled high in the middle of the 150-yard long structure were bricks, steel beams and roofing.

Order was restored to the stricken community, where Governor James V. Alfred declared martial law last night after rushing sightseers and rescue workers, mingling with frenzied parents, had brought about chaotic conditions.

Astylenes torches, cutting the twisted steel beams of the massive building, tugging cranes and bare hands worked together in uncovering the bodies this forenoon and afternoon.

Several of the injured died in hospitals.

MESSAGE FROM ROOSEVELT
Directed by President Roosevelt to "render every assistance" in "this shocking tragedy," Albert Evans, Red Cross disaster director, was flying here this morning from St. Louis. He was relied on to organize relief work.

President Roosevelt also asked government agencies to assist in the relief work.

OFFICIALS SEEK CAUSE
Major oil company executives and Overton city officials were ready to meet with Evans to delve into probable causes of the tragedy that virtually wiped out the rich oil sector's younger generation.

Work stopped in the oil fields, largest petroleum sector in the world, and schools were closed tight.

DIG INTO WRECKAGE
Oil field workers, as the salvage work proceeded, dug with bloodied hands into the wrecked steel and brick of the school for their own children.

Tons of debris remained to be removed from the ground and basement floors, feared also, to be the tomb of scores of bodies buried when the explosion ripped the imposing structure to broken pieces at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Nestled in a cluster of oil derricks in the heart of the world's most prolific flush oil field, the school, wealth-

Each winning ticket is worth $150,000 in addition to the $3,070 which the lucky ticket holders were awarded when their coupons were first drawn.

Valencia, March 19.—There are 700,000 fighting men on Spain's civil war fronts, government sources estimated today, conceding insurgent Gen. Francisco Franco a numerical advantage of 100,000 soldiers—400,000 against 300,000.

But that is not a gauge of strength for the two sides, these sources asserted, because the government has popular support and consequently a tremendously greater reserve. They said the insurgents were devoid of popular backing.

It was known the majority of government men were in the Madrid region, where the insurgents have held the former capital under siege for more than four months.

Disaster Great Blow For Texas

Oklahoma Newspaperman Tells How New London Struggles to Recover From School Tragedy

By CHARLES SAULSBERRY
Sports Editor of
The Oklahoma City Times

New London, Texas, March 19.—I saw this little Texas oil town struggle Thursday night to recover from one of the most crushing death blows the southwest ever has known.

Just across the street as I write this is the explosion-wrecked school building where hundreds of school children and teachers were blasted to death.

Now, a few hours after the blast, at least 1,000 rescue workers labor under spotlights to wrest the broken bodies from a mass of twisted steel and bricks.

Distraught parents strain at a rope which rings the desolate scene. Their faces stream with tears, their hearts smothered with despair, they wait to learn the fate of their children—but with little hope.

GREAT ROAR

There were no shouts, no screams. Just an ear-rending roar and the whole center structure seemed to lift from its foundations and fall back to bury under a mountain of brick and tile.

I raced her in my automobile with C. J. Kahlo, Oklahoma-Times staff photographer, from Jacksonville, Texas, about twenty-five miles away.

With us rushed a long line of motor cars, heading for the scene, spurred by the incredible story which spread through the countryside.

We reached this little oil town about 5 p.m., two hours after the blast. Already the town was in confusion. It is only what we call "a wide place in the road," hardly to be called a town.

AMBULANCES BUSY

Bricks and tile spread from the wrecked building in all directions. Ambulances race to the front of the building, pick up their burden of little bodies, and speed away. The spotlights, mounted on trucks, send their searching white fingers over the ruined structure, flash on the oil wells which surround the schoolyard.

Doctors about the scene. Men dig with their bare hands into the pile of bricks and steel, frantically laboring to reach the crushed bodies. Stretcher bearers hurry to and fro, silent as they clear the trail of death.

A few victims escaped with injuries, but from the mass of wreckage the real story of horror unfolds. It is one of sudden death striking in mid-afternoon of a warm, sunny day.

Claim City Fire Strength Too Low

branch of the association attended the meeting.

Both Mr. Stephenson and Mr. Noble expressed their appreciation of the financial difficulties the city faced, but suggested fire insurance was one of the services on which economies could not be made safely.

LOW RATE HERE

Victoria had the lowest fire rates of any large city in Canada, Mr. Noble told the meeting, stating the reason for the low rate lay partly in the efficiency of the local department, the comparative smallness of Victoria buildings, reduced conflagration risks, high water pressure and level streets.

Since 1917 the city had reduced its number of halls from eight to three, he said.

It was cheaper, he thought, to pay for fire protection through the maintenance of a good department than through increased rates.

Alderman Morgan, chairman of the fire department, reminded the underwriters that the city had reduced the area of coverage by over one-third by eliminating Oak Bay. Present arrangements for the protection of that municipality were only temporary, he said.

Mr. Noble drew a picture of major conflagrations in which people lose their lives, but in reply to questions from Ald. Archie Willis, stated no such fire had swept Victoria in the last thirty years.

REDUCTION SMALL

Alderman Morgan reminded the speaker the department had been reduced by only four men on service shift and by one piece of apparatus in actual service. One hall only had been closed and the other had been transferred to headquarters.

Duchess Street station had been maintained only for Oak Bay. Yates Street was faster to the Arena fire than was Duchess Street, Mayor McGavin said.

Mr. Noble admitted having heard Victoria was more adequately protected under existing arrangements than last year.

"Your protection, in my opinion, is less than last year and much less than in 1917. You might have had too many stations in 1917," Mr. Noble said. Victoria, he added, had enjoyed an abnormally low fire loss. But the picture could be changed at any time.

EFFICIENT DEPARTMENT

"Do you admit the efficiency of the Victoria department stopped small fires from becoming major conflagrations?" Alderman Willis asked.

"It has much to do with it," Mr. Noble replied. Alderman Willis noted that during the intense cold wave here the local department had put out twenty-nine fires in twenty-four hours. Mr. Noble stated Victoria was between 30 and 40 per cent insured. Where would the city find people to rebuild of their holdings were destroyed by fire, he asked.

Would the removal of one engine from service make all the difference in Victoria's position? Alderman Morgan asked. Mr. Noble replied the underwriters thought the city should have six stations and a minimum of fifty men on duty.

"That would cost $400,000," Alderman Morgan stated. He gave an itemized comparison of personnel, equipment and reserve strength for 1937 and 1936. Last year the city had seventy-five firemen against seventy-seven now. Then twenty-six were on duty at one time against twenty-four now. One hall had been closed and one consolidated with headquarters. The reserve strength of the force had been forty-nine in 1936 against fifty-three in 1937. Last year the city had 2.3 men per square mile in service against 3.3 per square mile today. Seven pieces of apparatus were in use last year against six this year. An increase had been made this year in the number of men to each piece of equipment.

REDUCED AREA

Without Oak Bay the department had to cover only 7.2 square miles as against 11.5 with that municipality securing city coverage, the alderman said.

Mr. Noble spoke of the fire risk in mercantile and manufacturing zones in Victoria, stating:

"You are very much on the danger zone."

Alderman Morgan remarked the city had asked the insurance companies for assistance in maintaining the department at its 1936 strength when the increased costs of the new hours of work had been imposed on the city.

If only 40 per cent of the city was insured, did that not show the citizens' faith in the efficiency of the department? Alderman Dewar asked.

Dealing with the Oak Bay situation, Mayor McGavin stated the city was not concerned with that municipality. It was giving Oak Bay temporary protection and if that district did not meet the city terms, the protection would cease at the end of the six months period.

Alderman Williams remarked neither Mr. Dowling nor Mr. McGregor had objected to the closing of the halls at an earlier meeting.

"We don't object to closing halls, but we did want to see the apparatus and men retained in service," Mr. Dowling replied.

The meeting closed with a discussion of possible development along metropolitan area lines and a discussion of premiums paid by Victoria for insurance.

Inspection of Fish Traps Is Debated

and gasoline had been used in the boat, but it had been employed for other supervision as well as the traps. Mr. Neill contended that most of its time had been used around the traps.

Suggesting that if the Sooko traps were removed fishermen would enter the area from elsewhere with their own gear, Mr. Neill said the British Columbia department recently had imposed restrictions on sockeye fishing at Skeena and warned that more drastic restrictions might follow to control the fish. This would put many fishermen out of employment and they would be seeking other fields, he submitted.

OLD PRACTICE

Prior to 1921 exclusive fishing licenses had been granted for various areas, to such an extent that one member of Parliament became known as "the salmon king of British Columbia" because of his dealing in these licenses, said Mr. Neill.

Traps, he claimed, were illegal anyway, because the regulations stipulated that no device could be used which unduly obstructed the passage of fish. The minister outlined the division of jurisdiction between province and Dominion; that where gear was attached to the land, even under the water, the province had jurisdiction, although the Dominion controlled the "fishing."

AT THE MORGUES

Families soon gathered in nearby morgues to pass the long, shrouded, lines of figures covered with white sheets.

Mothers and fathers shrank from each lifted sheet as they studied the battered forms of the young victims, few of whom were over eighteen years old. "The worst disaster in modern times involving children" was punctuated with shrill screams as parents claimed their dead in morgues.

ROADS ARE CROWDED

Within an hour after the tragedy, roads in every direction from this town of 600 were clogged with screaming ambulances, fast trucks bearing their burden of dead and dying and cars laden with weeping kin searching for their children.

Until state traffic patrolmen reached the scene the work of removing the dead and injured to morgues and hospitals, many of them hastily improvised in schools and garages, was gravely hampered by throngs of sightseers.

SIT BESIDE SON'S BODY

A mother and father sat silently in the early hours of dawn beside the body of their son. At the scene of the explosion, where the only sounds were those incident to clearing away the rubbish, two oil-field workers held the arm of another mother and attempted to lead her from the scene.

"I can't go away, I can't," she wept. "My baby may be alive in there and calling for me."

They finally led her away. Stretcher bearers brought out body after body, tousled young heads beneath blood-stained sheets. Parents who waited outside police lines for their children who had gone gallily to school yesterday morning hoped in vain to see them alive.

RED CROSS ASSISTS

Red Cross headquarters at St. Louis dispatched Albert Evans, regional director, to take charge of relief work. Other Red Cross workers were sent to assist. Scores of volunteer doctors and nurses from all parts of the southwest already had hurried to the lost rural institution in the United States, was a shambles.

BUILDINGS FILLED WITH DEAD
Dance halls, roller skating rinks, churches, hotels, hospitals and morgues in six nearby towns were filled with dead.

Workers boring into an almost impenetrable mass of ruins wheeled and calls for replacements echoed over the vicinity from a powerful public address system. Some fell exhausted, others stripped to the waist stumbled out of dust clouds for fresh air, then plunged back.

Bricks, steel and children's bodies shot skyward in the sudden explosion. Today acetylene torches cut into the twisted steel girders in all parts of the wrecked building—part of what had been an elaborate $1,000,000 school plant—as workers reached a basement floor believed to be hiding more bodies.

ALIVE UNDER DEBRIS

Eight hours after the tragedy workers burrowed through the ruins to reach a boy and girl, alive and protected by falling debris that formed a crude arch over them. The boy clasped the girl in his arms and only sobs greeted their rescue.

Both semi-hysterical, were hurried through the throng to a waiting ambulance. Both were of junior high school age.

PARENTS AT MEETING

Two hundred yards from the high school building when it was demolished, were scores of the doomed children's parents attending a meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association. They rushed screaming from their meeting into the blinding dust fog, debris raining down around them.

Shouts from the women running toward the building were drowned in the rumbling rush of brick and steel work. Oil field laborers who heard and saw the disaster were next on the scene and started clawing at the bricks and tile before the dust cloud had settled.

HANDS RUBBED RAW

Long lines of workers formed and hands rubbed raw and bled as jagged fragments of torn bricks were passed along, hand-to-hand. Trucks hastily recruited from the oil fields arrived within a few minutes and cranes lifted tons of wreckage from the broken bodies of the dead and dying children.

Darkness fell and floodlights hastily installed cast a white pall over the scene.

TROOPS IN CONTROL

National Guardsmen patrolled the area, placed under martial law, by James V. Alford of Texas. State highway patrolmen, liquor agents, local officers, rangers and members of the American Legion threw a cordon against crowds.

Lieut.-Col. C. E. Parker, commanding the National Guard unit, "proved a report that the building job was dynamited. He said four-seen sticks of explosive found in an undamaged closet had been placed in storage there during blasting on a football field."

Executives from oil companies stopped operations nearby and volunteered their men and machinery for speeding removal of the debris.

ESCAPED BY SECONDS

F. F. Waggoner, principal of the nearby elementary school which was only slightly damaged, stood by resolutely early today with his head bandaged and told a story of having escaped death by seconds.

"Ten seconds more," he related, "and I would have been in a part of the building where everyone was killed. I never want to enter another school building."

He had stepped into a study hall to get some ballots for a Parent-Teacher Association election when the building was shattered by the explosion. The study hall was not completely demolished.

AT THE MORGUES

Families soon gathered in nearby morgues to pass the long, shrouded, lines of figures covered with white sheets.

Mothers and fathers shrank from each lifted sheet as they studied the battered forms of the young victims, few of whom were over eighteen years old. "The worst disaster in modern times involving children" was punctuated with shrill screams as parents claimed their dead in morgues.

Within an hour after the tragedy, roads in every direction from this town of 600 were clogged with screaming ambulances, fast trucks bearing their burden of dead and dying and cars laden with weeping kin searching for their children.

scenic by plane and automobile after an appeal for relief was broadcast.

LIE WITHOUT AID

Despite their efforts, gravely wounded children, many of them suffering from concussions and torn limbs, lay for hours without medical aid.

Doctors and nurses attended them as fast as they became available. American Legion units, boy scouts and civic organizations gave first aid. The slow process of identification moved forward before dawn.

Bodies were held in morgues and improvised morgues in a dozen towns. The injured, of whose number there was this morning no accurate estimate, were equally as scattered.

BODIES BADLY MANGLED

Bodies of the children recovered from the shattered building were badly mangled. They were described as resembling rag dolls, limp and shredded. Recognition in many cases was difficult.

Several escaped death as by a miracle. J. B. Nelson Jr., an oil company employee who was in the building, was blown through a window. Evelyn Peters was another who was literally wafted to safety by the force of the blast.

RUMBLE BEFORE BLAST

Eye-witnesses said a menacing rumble preceded the explosion. Then there was a roar and the roof of the building was pushed up. Then it pancaked down as the walls crumpled outward. Bricks flew for a quarter of a mile. Cars nearby were wrecked.

Within two hours 1,500 men were toiling at the ruins. As one dead body after another was removed, hope that any might be found alive waned. Most of those injured were reached soon after the explosion, or were not actually in the building.

WORSE THAN WAR

Joe Davidson, fifty-two, a veteran of the World War and holder of the Croix de Guerre, who lost three of his four children in the explosion, toiled in the debris. "I was shot down twice during the war," he said grimly, "but this is the worst I have ever known."

Another blood and grime-smeared rescuer, who had just finished a hard day's work in the oil field, sought for his child in the ruins. He brought out twenty-five bodies, but not that of his own child.

PRINCIPAL SEEKS SON

Mr. Shaw, the school superintendent, looked for his son, Sam, seventeen. Early today he had not found him.

R. K. Carr, an oil company employee, was one of the first to reach the scene. He dashed into the wreckage and the first body he found was that of his own little girl.

The explosion came just a few minutes before high school students were to be dismissed for the day. There were 740 students and teachers in the building. The nearby elementary school building was virtually empty of the 500 younger pupils, although a few of them were in the building which was wrecked.

The London Consolidated School had come to be known as the richest rural school in the United States. There are several producing oil wells on the campus, located midway between London and New London near Henderson in the heart of the vast productive east Texas oil field. There were two main buildings, and the entire plant cost $1,000,000. The value of the destroyed building, was said by school officials to be about $150,000.

The large consolidated school, including high school and primary pupils, drew students from a thirty-mile-square area in the midst of the oil field.

DEATHS MAY BE 500

Austin, Tex., March 19 (Associated Press).—Capt. Walter Elliott of the state highway patrol reporting from New London this afternoon, estimated there were between 500 and 600 deaths in the schoolhouse explosion there.

The message from Capt. Elliott to Chief L. G. Phares of the patrol follows:

"Nearest estimate on deaths at present is between 500 and 600. We have been trying to ascertain the exact total, but have been unable to do so at this time as no two authorities agreed as to the number dead or the number unaccounted for."

New London, Tex., March 19.—Two nights ago George M. Davidson, oil field driller and wartime hero, visualized tragedy in a dream.

Thursday morning before breakfast he told members of his crew about the dream. They warned it was an ill omen to relate dream tragedies before the morning meal.

Ten hours later he stumbled into an Overton morgue and identified three bodies as those of his two daughters and a son: Anna Laura, eleven; Helen, thirteen, and Joe Wheeler, fifteen.

Municipalities and Mayors In Union

Two Dominion Groups Federate at Conclusion of Ottawa Conference; Housing at Low Cost and Low Rent Urged

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 19.—Out of an amalgamation of the Dominion Conference of Mayors and the Union of Canadian Municipalities has arisen the new Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, designed to co-ordinate activities in the interests of Canada's local governing bodies.

Merger of the two organizations yesterday evening was the concluding act of their three-day conference here which had dealt mainly with relief, taxation and housing problems. Moderating the stand taken at the two preceding annual meetings and that recommended by their own resolutions committee, the Dominion Government should take over the entire cost of relief, the conferees decided to ask the government to increase its grants-in-aid. Otherwise, they said, progressive bankruptcies among the municipalities would be the only alternative.

HOUSING PLANS
The conference determined also to petition the government to introduce without delay an adequate assisted plan aimed specifically at the provision of housing at low cost and low rent.

It will ask that the government assume full responsibility for assistance to all ex-servicemen and their dependents—conduct, with the provinces, complete water surveys to prevent alternate floods and droughts in certain areas and steady water shortage in others; and extend the provision of the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act to include urban property holders.

OFFICERS CHOSEN
The national executive was elected as follows: Mayor E. J. Cragg, Halifax; Mayor D. L. MacLaren, Saint John; Mayor P. W. Turner, Charlottetown; Mayor J. A. Bagnall, Montreal; Mayor J. E. Gregoire, Quebec City; Mayor W. D. Robbins, Toronto; Mayor Robert Rowe, North Bay, Ont.; Mayor P. E. Warriner, Winnipeg; Mayor Andrew Davidson, Calgary; Mayor Harris S. Johnstone, Moose Jaw; Mayor George C. Miller, Vancouver; and Reeve Marsh Magdoo, York Township, Ont.

This committee, in turn, elected as officers: President, Mayor Cragg, Halifax; secretary, Alderman W. H. Bigger, Montreal; treasurer, Mayor Stanley Lewis, Ottawa.

Regional chairmen include: Reeve William Crouch, Banff, B.C.; Mayor D. H. Eton, Lethbridge; Mayor R. M. Pinder, Saskatoon; Alderman Thomas Fife, Winnipeg.

B.N.A. CHANGE CANADA'S NEED

Lapointe Speaks at Conference of Municipal Delegates With Federal Cabinet

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 19.—Readjustment of Canada's national structure was becoming an acute necessity if current social problems were to be faced effectively, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice and Acting Prime Minister, yesterday evening told a delegation of mayors and municipal representatives from all sections of Canada.

For two hours the delegation and six cabinet ministers discussed in informal round-table fashion problems confronting the municipalities. The proportion of the relief burden borne by the municipalities despite their limited taxing powers and the need for a subsidized low-rent housing scheme were main matters raised by the delegation.

It would be impossible to settle these problems if it were done politically, said Mr. Lapointe. "We must unite all our efforts to try to find a solution of our problems which, because of our constitutional charter, seem almost impossible to face."

Mayor Harris S. Johnstone of Moose Jaw, chairman of the resolutions committee, presented the submissions.

PRAIRIES' NEEDS ARE GREAT
In urging greater grants-in-aid for relief purposes, Mayor Johnstone stated the prairie cities were in a "particularly perilous" condition at the moment, and that if present conditions continued there would not be a solvent city west of Fort William a year from now.

Mayor P. Hume of New Westminster urged the government could at present provide the municipalities with cheap money. His city was now forced to pay 6 per cent.

Mechanization of farming was driving people into the cities, said Mayor A. C. Ellison of Regina.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Resources, argued, on the other hand, that people should not be led astray by the experiences of the past few years. More diversified farming required more help.

Mayor Ellison said that of 2,500 families on relief in Regina 1,000 families had gone there from the country since the beginning of the depression.

BUDGET GAP TO BE BRIDGED

Canadian Press
Vancouver, March 19.—Alderman Fred Crone, speaking before the Vancouver Real Estate Exchange yesterday, told how the City Council proposed to bridge the $1,800,000 gap in its civic budget this year.

The money will be raised, Alderman Crone said, by reducing estimates by $500,000, raising the mill rate to yield an additional $600,000 to $700,000 and by raising the sinking fund for the balance after getting enabling legislation from the provincial government.

The programme was purely temporary, the alderman declared. Within a year, he said, the council expected substantial relief from the provincial government.

"I believe the government will eventually take over education, and possibly hospitalization," he declared.

SINKING FUND
He reassured his audience with regard to the stability of the sinking fund, saying there was approximately $18,000,000 in the fund, or sufficient to meet maturing bond obligations until 1950.

Turning to traffic control, Alderman Crone claimed that "50 per cent of all traffic tickets given out in the past two years have been 'fixed'—a terrible situation."

"But I can assure you that is not so today. From now on a ticket means a ticket and not a fix over the telephone," he warned. "Intolerance and sin cause most traffic accidents and they will be stringently dealt with. The mayor, the council and the police all have the same understanding."

Maryland Estate Not For Ex-king

Associated Press
Baltimore, March 19.—The Baltimore Sun in a copyright story quoted a secretary to the Duke of Windsor as denying by cable yesterday that he is negotiating for the purchase of the Clotiers, estate of Sumner A. Parker in the Green Spring Valley near here.

A cablegram to The Sun read: "Duke of Windsor has never heard of Sumner Parker. No truth whatever in story."

"Secretary."
The cable was in reply to an inquiry The Sun had sent to the Duke at Ennsfeld Castle, Austria.

Wheat Policy Is Upheld on Vote

Commons By 119 to 45 Rejects Conservative Want-of-confidence Motion

Canadian Pacific
Ottawa, March 19.—If the Dominion Government had failed to foresee the advance in wheat prices and take steps to ensure the producer full benefits from such improvement, the co-operative wheat pools of western Canada were equally negligent, Hon. C. A. Dunning, Finance Minister, told the House of Commons yesterday.

Mr. Dunning and several of his colleagues advanced this argument in opposing a want-of-confidence motion offered by E. E. Perley, Conservative, Qu'Appelle, Sask., regretting the government's action last August in making the operations of the wheat board conditional on the price falling to 90 cents. The amendment was lost on a vote of 119 to 45, with Harry Leader, Liberal, Portage la Prairie, voting with the combined opposition forces.

MARKET ORGANIZATION
No criticism was directed toward the pools, but Mr. Dunning along with his colleagues, expressed the opinion it would be better for the farmers if they handled their own marketing organization.

W. A. Tucker, Liberal, Roehampton, Sask., Dr. Thomas F. Donnelly, Liberal, Wood Mountain, Sask., and Gilbert Weir, Liberal, Macdonald, Man., took part in the debate.

The issue during the discussion was the decision reached last August that the fixed minimum price of wheat should remain at 87½ cents a bushel, and that the Canadian Wheat Board should buy no wheat unless the price fell below 90 cents a bushel.

Mr. Perley's motion was an amendment to the government motion to resolve the House into committee of ways and means.

TRADE AGREEMENT
Yesterday evening's sitting of the House was devoted to discussion in committee of the Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement. Joseph Harris, Conservative, Toronto-Danforth, opposed items which permit free entry of vegetable oils from Empire sources on the ground they compete with animal fat products in Canada, production of which exceeds normal food requirements.

Little progress was made on the tariff items in the agreement in the three-hour debate, and Mr. Dunning observed that at the present rate of progress it would take six weeks to pass the agreement.

INCOME TAX PACT TO BE RATIFIED

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 19.—Parliament will consider ratification of a convention entered into by Canada and the United States at Washington, December 13, 1936, concerning rates of income tax on non-resident individuals and corporations. A resolution to this effect appeared yesterday on the Commons voted and proceedings.

The convention declares that "the rate of income tax imposed by one of the contracting states in respect of income derived from sources therein upon individuals residing in the other state, who are not engaged in trade or business in the taxing state and have no office or place of business therein, shall not exceed 5 per centum for each taxable year, so long as an equivalent or lower rate of income taxation is imposed by the other state upon individuals residing in the former state who are not engaged in trade or business in such other state and do not have an office or place of business therein."

No Italians Will Be at Coronation

Boycott of Event Announced By Mussolini Because Haile Selassie Invited

Associated Press
London, March 19.—Italy will boycott the Coronation May 12 of King George VI. Premier Benito Mussolini announced in an interview published today in The London Daily Mail, because the government invited Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia to send a representative.

In the interview, obtained by G. Ward Price, the Italian leader was quoted as saying:

"The invitation sent to Tafari (Haile Selassie's family name) will entail the absence of an Italian delegation from the Coronation ceremonies."

"We are most sorry. But if allowances are made for routine formalism, then our attitude also must be understood."

READY FOR SETTLEMENT

Mussolini reiterated to Price that Italy's colonial ambitions are satisfied and declared Italy was ready to seek "a friendly settlement" with Great Britain.

"I am ready to make a friendly settlement with Great Britain," Mr. Duce declared, "on all questions about which she desires to treat with regard to the territories adjoining ours—Kenya and the Sudan."

Vancouver Work Scheme Drafted

Programme to Be Placed Before Provincial Government for Grant

Canadian Press
Vancouver, March 19.—Final details of Vancouver's proposed $70,000 civic works programme have been completed and will be placed before the provincial government March 24, with a request for financial aid to put it into operation, it was learned at the City Hall.

Alderman R. P. Pettipiece and Alderman Fred Crone will lay the scheme before Hon. G. S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, and Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, with a request for $25,000 needed to start the scheme. The balance would be taken care of in ordinary relief allowances to men who would be employed in various development projects under the plan.

The project, much smaller than one previously rejected by the provincial government at the beginning of the year, would provide employment for 200 men and would include improvements to the civic golf course here, beaches and a number of parks.

Newspaperman Of Seattle Dies

P. E. Armstrong Whose Dismissal Preceded P.-I. Strike, Succumbs

Associated Press
Seattle, March 19.—Philip Everhardt Armstrong, forty-seven, veteran Seattle newspaperman and a storm centre in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer strike last year, died last night of a heart attack in a hotel here.

The dismissal of Armstrong, dramatic critic from the newspaper, coupled with the earlier discharge of Frank M. (Slim) Lynch, photographer precipitated the American Newspaper Guild strike which closed the newspaper from August 31 until November 30.

The Guild strike was settled with neither Armstrong nor Lynch being re-employed.

Senate Approves Blind Pensions

Amended Measure Provides $480 For Married Couples; Permissible Income Up to $400

Canadian Press
Ottawa, March 19.—With one amendment, the Senate yesterday evening put through second and third readings the bill to amend the Old Age Pensions Act by providing pensions for the blind in reaching the age of forty.

The amendment was a government one. Senator Raoul Dandurand, government leader, explained. It provided that in the case of a person married to another blind person, each receiving a pension under the act, the maximum permissible additional income in each case should be $200.

Under provisions of the measure as originally drafted, two-blind persons, if married to each other, would be allowed a total income of $1,280 (each would receive a pension of $240, and each would be allowed a permissible income of $400). It was felt this was too generous and so the amendment was being made.

An Able Jurist

AT THE END OF THIS MONTH, Chief Justice Macdonald, who has presided over the Court of Appeal of British Columbia since its establishment in 1909, will go into retirement and try to take a well-earned rest. From the point of view of his appearance on "the bench" he will be resting; but it is hardly possible to believe that with such a profound mental equipment as he possesses he will relax anything like as much as, perhaps, he ought to do.

At any rate, Mr. Macdonald will have his books, his reflections on the part he has played in the public life of his native land. And it also may be presumed that "budding lights" in the legal profession will feel at times that they would like to ask the advice of the retiring Chief Justice. Be he well enough, he will listen to them and, with no smile whatever, but with an understanding of human nature, give them the advice they seek. The Chief Justice, of course, does not indulge in verbiage. He is a man of few words. He comes to the point and makes no bones about anything with which he is confronted.

Hon. Mr. Macdonald came west to Rossland in 1896, attaining a high reputation in the then booming mining city. He was named a Bench of the Law Society of B.C. in 1907, elected first president of the Rossland Branch of the Provincial Mining Association of B.C., and represented Rossland in the Legislature from 1903 to 1909, during which years he was leader of the Liberal party of the province. He resigned the leadership following his appointment as Chief Justice of the Appeal Court in 1909.

As Leader of the Opposition in the Legislature he was noted for his incisive style in debate. He was highly regarded by both Bar and Bench. Incidentally, at the time of his appointment to the Court of Appeal, The Toronto Globe described him as "a man of vigor, energy and mental acumen," while The Montreal Star praised him as "a fine lawyer with a clear, incisive business intelligence."

Modern War Unendurable

FOR MANY GENERATIONS WAR was conducted under what we might call tournament rules. Armies met and battled under an elaborate and formal code, as carefully documented as the rules for a football game. Except that they frequently had to tramp across somebody's carrot patch, they scrupulously left civilians out of it.

The novelist Ford Madox Ford recently cited a quaint illustration. Some three or four centuries ago, when England and France were at war, the French sent a protest to the English about the way a certain artilleryman was performing. Instead of firing ordinary cannon balls, he was loading his guns with broken bottles, hunks of chain, and spare parts from the armorer's shops. These inflicted grotesque and painful wounds, and it was all pretty unfair. So the English high command promptly court-martialed the ardent artilleryman on charges of playing the noble game of war in an unsportsmanlike manner.

That was what war used to be; a formalized conflict between professional fighters that left ordinary folk pretty much undisturbed.

Within the last century or so, all that changed. Wars became contests between nations rather than between armies. It was discovered that one could win a war by tormenting the enemy's civilians until they would do anything to have the war ended.

Out of this grew the unspeakable horrors that are commonplace in modern warfare: The torpedoing of merchant ships, the bombing of defenseless cities, the starving of the civil populace by means of blockade, and so on.

The world could put up with the old kind of warfare. It cannot put up with the new kind. The cost is too terrible. Which is why thoughtful men tell us that if civilization is to endure we must not have any more wars.

Prospecting Below

MODERN GEOPHYSICAL PROSPECTING methods which use electricity and magnetism instead of a forked branch of a tree to detect the presence of valuable ore deposits, is the way mining engineers are outwitting the obscuring blanket of rocks and earth which the great glacial invasions threw over the earth tens of thousands of years ago. At the meetings of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers in New York this week, the applications of the seemingly "divining rod" methods of modern prospecting to Canada and the United States were under discussion.

In Canada, in particular, the method finds wide usefulness and its greatest development. Hans Lundberg, noted Swedish engineer who has pioneered in the use of the equipment, has pointed out that most of Canada's great mineral wealth has been, in the past, discovered by geologists who prospected on the indications of surface rocks and their formation. And this, he added, despite the fact that almost 99 per cent of Canada's visible terrain is a layer of glacial deposits from a few feet to 120 and more thick.

It is the method of geophysical prospecting which allows science to penetrate beneath this overlying glacial drift layer and tell what the real nature of the bedrock below may be like. "Since the rich ore deposits known in Canada," said Mr. Lundberg, "are found in the 1 per cent of the country where they are visible, it is logical to assume that there must exist valuable and rich ore bodies in the 99 per cent of the country where they are not visible, as we know that the geological conditions must be similar."

Geophysical prospecting serves to supplement the findings of a geologist in quite the same way that X-ray studies add to the knowledge of a surgeon. Typical of success last year were surveys made in British Columbia, where, for a cost of $6,000, deposits were found which in six weeks yielded gold ore valued at a million dollars. The same company in the previous year had spent $60,000 in prospecting to find deposits of a similar value.

A Benefit of War

IN A RECENT INTERVIEW, VIScount Astor cited an interesting fact. Under auspices of the League of Nations, a group of nutrition experts has been endeavoring to persuade countries to devote more care to the important matter of proper food for their young.

"In some countries where we cannot get interest in nutrition on the ground of child welfare," maintains Lord Astor, "we find it aroused by the need for stronger recruits for the army."

While this seems too strongly reminiscent of fattening the kine for the market, preparedness for war apparently does serve at least one good purpose. What an ideal state of things it would be, now, if this trend toward proper child care would gather momentum and become a permanent feature of our civilization, and war could be outlawed.

Carrying White Civilization To Black "Heathens"

AS MARSHAL GRAZIANI, Mussolini's viceroy of Abyssinia, paused in the streets of Addis Ababa, a bomb was thrown at him and several persons were injured.

The New York Times carries a dispatch from The Times of London giving ghastly details of the Italian reprisals which place some of the blackest stains yet recorded against the white man in his "civilizing" of natives of "inferior" races. The Times dispatch tells how as soon as the bomb was thrown, Italian troops surrounded the vicinity, and every Ethiopian within the circle was killed. Some 2,000 natives were arrested and the majority of them were shot. Then the Italian militia and workmen were called up, weapons were distributed, and they were told to do what they liked with the natives. Armed with rifles, revolvers, bombs, knives and clubs, gangs of Black Shirts patrolled the native section of the city and killed every man, woman and child they found. Others, equipped with flame throwers, set fire to the flimsy huts and houses of the natives and shot down those who tried to escape. This continued for three days, and The Times, always cautious, estimates that 6,000 have been killed.

Comments The New Outlook: "It is, perhaps, unjust to recall the words of an Italian Cardinal preaching in Milan Cathedral on the eve of the capture of Addis Ababa: 'The banners of Italy,' he said, 'are now leading on the cross of Christ in Ethiopia, and missionaries will follow in the footsteps of the troops.' Apparently the restraining influence of the missionaries is not very great. At all events, while this sort of thing can happen, we should speak with caution of 'the moral responsibility of the white man.'"

War Debts

HERE IS A PROPOSITION WHICH has to be considered calmly. It is the case of the gentleman from Ohio who had suddenly returned to the Congress at Washington. He had in the back of his mind Great Britain's war debt to the United States.

Then we are told that another gentleman—also from Illinois—at once asked how these debts could be paid. And this from an "Old World journal: 'In gold? America doesn't want it. In goods? America has tariffs. To which the gentleman from Ohio replied that he didn't know how the debts could be paid, and he wasn't going to be told, either; but that there! Is this patriotism? Or just bunkum?'

The trouble about war is that it is not only futile and costly but also that it never can be paid for. Yet we have to read a lot of stuff about the necessity of making provision for defence.

Notes

At a surrealist exhibition, a woman will not leave her hat lying around, as it would be unfair competition.

It is questionable which is the more piteous spectacle: sit-down strikers after a tear gas barrage, or an audience during "Camille."

An English publisher predicts an early shortage of paper. But surely, "Gone With the Wind" cannot keep on selling like that!

Operations are rather expensive in this country. In Hungary, however, one can escape the cost by insulting that duelling doctor.

University enrolments in Germany have dropped from a peak of 126,537 in 1931 to 76,808 in 1935-36, figures from a German source indicate. The German attitude appears to be that this decline is a matter for congratulation; the number of students half a dozen years ago is considered "too large," now.

Column Three

Irishmen to Have Last Word On Constitution, Says De Valera

Special Cable. Copyright, 1937.

LONDON. After President Eamon de Valera gave his St. Patrick's Day interview on what the Irish Republic had accomplished, I asked him what were his plans for the future. He replied:

"In internal affairs we propose to continue on our present lines of development. In external affairs, important changes have taken place since this time last year. No external authority now exists in fact or in name in our internal affairs. In the course of the present year a constitution will be submitted to the people for enactment by them, to be brought into operation when they have signified their approval of it."

"Unlike the constitution of 1922, which contained many clauses dictated by the British minister, the Irish people will have the last word on this constitution. It will be an Irish constitution from top to bottom. It will be presented to the Dail in the Irish language and will, I hope, represent the feeling and aspirations of the Irish people."

"It will provide for an elected President who will be the supreme guardian of the people's right and for a senate on a vocational basis."

Asked whether it would be a constitution for the whole of Ireland, he replied: "It will be a constitution which can be applied to the whole of Ireland." He referred to the reply which he gave last year on the subject of the northeastern counties of Ulster. He still maintains that the difference between north and south are exaggerated for political purposes and that with the removal of causes which make such exaggeration profitable, natural forces will draw the people together for a united Ireland.

Mr. de Valera concluded by saying that the reunion of Ireland was an objective which had never been lost sight of, and which could be urged with greater force now, in view of the advance taking place.

Pudovkin's "Deserter" Remarkable Film

Critique of The New Age, London, on the showing at London's Forum Cinema of the feature picture being brought to Victoria by the National Film Society for an exclusive showing to members next Sunday afternoon.

PUDOVKIN, the director of this film, is "architectural in outlook" and "psychologically dramatic." So says an official notice, which remarks, concerning this particular film, on the "sincerity of the direction." What is sincerity of direction? It means much the same as sincerity of pronunciation—whatever that may mean. I can find a meaning for sincerity of speech—namely that the speech reveals the belief of the speaker. So let us say that Pudovkin believes in what he puts across, and leave it at that.

If you were to cut up the film-strip you could reassemble the pictures in three categories: (a) close-ups of workmen; (b) pictures of massive machinery at work; and (c) pictures of fighting in the streets.

The story centres round a working man who dodges picket-duty during a strike—who repented—who confessed before an assembly of fellow-strikers—and who voluntarily went back to do the job. I think he was killed. I say I think so because in Russian drama something sinister about its message or moral. And the more diverse and intense the quarrelling the more securely is Pudovkin's reputation as a psychological dramatist established.

What I got was this reflection: Namely, how easily a handful of disciplined police can disperse a crowd of several hundred undisciplined workpeople. Not new, is it? But that is Pudovkin's responsibility primarily, and mine secondarily. I observed how one-sided the slaughter was when men in shirts joined battle with men in tanks—what poor form was displayed by heavers of brickbats in comparison with that shown by manipulators of machine guns. On this narrow section of an aspect of world affairs Pudovkin was graphic enough—but I have the uneasy feeling that precisely because he was so graphic on this point it was not a point he intended to emphasize. For these "psychological dramatists" seem to suffer from a propensity to conceal most effectively that which they wish to teach most emphatically.

I hope that I have not said anything to put people off going to see the film. Never mind what Pudovkin may wish you to know (even if he knows it himself). If you got the wit you can teach yourself on the crumbs of wisdom which accidentally fall from this rich man's table of profundities.

This film will interest those advocates of Social Credit who recognize the importance of defending the common-law right of public assembly out of doors, and who saw in the wearing of the Green-shirt uniform a method of promoting demonstrations with the least risk of public disorder. An honest government would have regulated shirt-wearing by licensing it, like motor-driving, and given magistrates powers to endorse or suspend the license for any local area if disorders occurred there.

From the Saanich Prosecutor To the Editor:—I have heard a great many rumors which have been circulated concerning a number of prominent businessmen in the city of Victoria charging these men with various homosexual offences. While the present series of charges has been pending in the Saanich Police Court I have deemed it advisable to remain silent until now.

As a result of these charges three men have been committed for trial. A thorough investigation has been made by the Saanich police and no information has been obtained which in any way implicates or even casts any suspicion on any adult person other than the men already committed.

In view of the evidence obtained by the police and submitted to me and which has been presented in the police court I can say confidently that the horrible rumors which have been circulated have absolutely no foundation in fact.

C. H. TAIT, Prosecutor, Municipality of Saanich, 425 Sayward Building, Victoria, March 19, 1937.

A LITTLE OF THIS AND THAT FROM A WOMAN

To the Editor:—Most of your editorial in Saturday's issue was very good. It's too bad you didn't complete it by answering your own question of how Britain could avoid rearmament. Instead of trying to apologize for the Conservative government of England, which, as a tool of munition makers and war mongers, is completely war mad and insensible to the needs of its own people, namely, peace, work and wages—not war, death and misery.

Every Democrat is waiting to see the answer to your question: Will the blockade be successful? We are skeptical after the way Baldwin has played ball with Mussolini.

Speaking of Spain reminds me that for months now you have been telling the public about the civil war which is going on in Spain. I wonder if you, along with many others, are unaware that this is not a civil war, but an armed invasion of a peaceful country, with a constitutional government, by a foreign military expedition. That this expedition is headed by nationals of Spain against their own country makes not the slightest difference.

Our heartfelt thanks to P. Hartnell for reminding us that no Canadian can be a Communist or vice versa, and that those awful Reds are still cooking and eating bishops, babies, horses and pacists indiscriminately.

LET'S CLEAN UP

From The Sidney Review "This is the time of year when things look more, or less dead and untidy. Let's all get busy and clean up the unsightly yards, corners, etc., and make the Saanich Peninsula and Gulf Islands truly a place of beauty. Let's have pride in our area and not be ashamed to show strangers our roads, streets, gardens, yards. If you can afford it, paint up as well. A little paint makes a great deal of difference to the appearance of buildings."

THE BONES OF BAYARD

From The London Observer

If it is really the bones of Bayard that have been found in the vault of a Grenoble chapel, they will be worthy of all honor, for the Seigneur seems to have lived up to his reputation as sans peur et sans reproche. Among the feats recorded of him is that of pursuing the enemy alone into Milan; a feat which the same enemy recognized by setting him free without a ransom. Once he held a bridge alone against 200 Spaniards, and he was one of the thirteen French knights who fought with thirteen German knights, a complicated form of duel not uncommon in medieval days.

He had strategy as well as courage. At the Battle of the Spurs (1513), finding his escape cut off, he rode up to an English officer who was retreating unarmed, and summoned him to yield. When he did so, Bayard, in turn, gave himself up as a prisoner. He was indifferent to booty at a time when it was the accepted crown of success. Bayard's objection to firearms as unsportsmanlike could only have been confirmed by the fact that he was mortally wounded by an arquebus ball in 1524.

Between 1929 and 1936 this is what happened to A.T. and T., world's largest corporation: Number of employees: Fell from 456,682 to 294,362. Wages paid: Fell from $676,543,312 to $475,000,000. Dividends: Rose from $116,378,371 to $108,051,179. This is not a puzzle contest, but if you study this picture carefully you'll see where our next depression is coming from.

Words often misused: Do not say "I generally go to the city on Wednesday." Say, "I usually go."

Often mispronounced: Fenwick (an English family name). Pronounce fen-ik, e as in men, i as in it, and not fen-wick.

Often misspelled: Chimney; nay, not ay. Synonyms: Deposition, demesnor, behavior, bearing, manner. Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." ## Electrosurgery For "Bleeders"

New Method Makes Operations Safe For Hemophiliacs

Baltimore, March 19—A safe method of performing surgical operations on "bleeders" and a sort of automatic safety mechanism within their own bodies which helps protect them from fatal hemorrhage were described by Dr. Barnes Woodhall, resident surgeon of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, at the meeting of the Southern Medical Association.

This new knowledge was obtained from experience with a young Spanish lad who suffers from hemophilia, the dangerous hereditary malady which also afflicts male members of the family that once ruled Spain. The Count of Covadonga, formerly heir to the Spanish throne and a sufferer from this disease, nearly died recently of a hemorrhage that followed a minor surgical operation. Electrosurgery might have spared him this almost disastrous experience, it appears from the cases Dr. Woodhall reported here.

By using a high frequency electrocoagulation unit, which seals the blood vessels as the tissues are cut, surgeons at the Johns Hopkins Hospital were able safely to amputate a thumb of the sixteen-year-old compatriot of the Count of Covadonga. A blood transfusion was given at the time of the operation as a precautionary measure. There was no hemorrhage either during or following the operation and the wound healed normally.

Removal of the thumb was required because hemorrhage into the joint had destroyed the joint and bone tissue and resulted in a tumor containing blood which was very painful and threatened to burst through the skin.

Coagulation of the tissues by electricity at the time of the amputation not only prevented hemorrhage but greatly reduced the clotting time of the patient's blood. Dr. Woodhall reported. The blood in hemophiliacs clots very slowly, which is why small cuts or injuries may result in loss of so much blood that the patient dies. Before the amputation, a sample of the Spanish lad's blood took five hours to clot. After the amputation, this time was reduced to five minutes.

This suggested that the cauterization by electricity mobilized the thrombo-plastic substances in the body which make blood clot when it is shed following injury. To test this theory, a small portion of skin and tissues beneath it on the right thigh were partially cauterized a month after the amputation. On the third day following this, the clotting time had fallen from four and a half hours to three and a half hours, and on the fourth day to one and a half hours.

Following the experience with the Spanish boy, electrosurgical methods were used to extract an impacted tooth in another patient suffering from hemophilia. Seven of this patient's male relatives had died of hemophilia and two of his brothers had been treated in the hospital for the condition. Immediate hemorrhage following extraction of the tooth was completely checked by high frequency electrocoagulation. Dr. Woodhall reported.

This patient's case also showed the possible existence of an automatic safety mechanism that apparently at times protects bleeders from fatal hemorrhages and suggests a method of treating them. The day after the tooth extraction, the patient had two large hemorrhages under the skin. One was around the face, as a result of the local anesthesia given him, and the other involved his entire left arm, following puncture of a vein for a blood test. Coincidentally with these hemorrhages, a marked fall in the clotting time of his blood occurred. A similar reduction of the clotting time had been noticed before on this same patient following hemorrhage under the skin.

The hemorrhage itself evidently called up extra blood-clotting thrombo-plastic substances which served to protect the patient from further dangerous bleeding. Injection of thrombo-plastic substances from the bleeder's own blood might, it appears, be a valuable procedure.

NEW DANGER FROM CARBON MONOXIDE

A new danger from the stealthy, deadly gas of incomplete combustion, carbon monoxide, was described by Dr. Harvey G. Beck of Baltimore.

The danger is that of chronic poisoning which, according to Dr. Beck, affects the nerves, heart and blood vessels and causes serious disease in those who escape acute and deadly poisoning from the colorless, odorless gas.

Carbon monoxide, Dr. Beck explained, does its work by replacing the oxygen in the blood. In acute poisoning, so much oxygen is replaced that the patient dies from its lack. In the chronic poisoning, enough oxygen is left to support life, but the tissues like brain and nerves which require large amounts of oxygen for their nourishment are affected by the slight deprivation. As a result, symptoms of nervous ailments, ranging from the chronic complaints of the neurasthenic to the serious ones of encephalitis, multiple sclerosis and brain tumor, may occur.

In some cases symptoms of heart disease were seen. In others, anemia or the opposite condition of too many red blood cells appeared. Dizziness, nausea and symptoms of digestive disturbances were common. When the cause of the condition was discovered and home and other environment freed of carbon monoxide, the patients recovered and remained well. In many cases, Dr. Beck said, change of employment or change of seasons, with consequent turning off of faulty gas heaters in the homes, were the only factors which saved the patients' lives.

NORMAL DIET FOR DIABETIC CHILD

Baltimore, Mar. 19.—Little children struggling to maintain health under the handicap of diabetes can now begin to eat normally.

Medical science has progressed to the point where it can keep these children alive and well without making them go hungry and without depriving them of the foods
they need to grow strong and tall.
Dr. Hugh L. Dwyer, of Kansas City,
Mo., advised the Southern Medical Association.

With the aid of insulin, the diabetic child can eat nearly the same meals that his normal brother and sister eat. He may not need as much insulin when he eats the normal allowance of sugar and starch foods as he did when on a restricted diet.
This does not mean that he can go on a candy jag or eat cake and ice cream to heart's content.

Dr. Dwyer found that diabetic children eating the more normal diet got along better, needed less insulin, and had fewer complications such as coma and insulin shock.

"In the normal child's diet the total calories are made up of approximately 50 per cent carbohydrate
(sugars and starches), 15 per cent protein (meat, eggs, etc.), and 35 per cent fat," Dr. Dwyer said. "We have found that diabetic children will usually do well on such a diet. Children on such a diet are more cooperative, diet infractions are less common and increased gains in height and weight are noteworthy."

INTERCHANGEABLE TYPE TYPE-WRITERS

At the special exhibition of the Office Machine Industry at the 1937

Leipzig Spring Fair the Typewriter
Industry will demonstrate a large number of innovations and improvements. One German typewriter manufacturer, for instance, is showing a machine which has an interchangeable type set. This will appeal to all businesses which have to write letters to foreign countries in which the Latin alphabet cannot be used. If the current correspondence is not sufficient to warrant a special machine, this typewriter with the interchangeable type set applies. Also in the case of languages which have a large number of accents and special signs, which are not usually incorporated in the type sets generally used, the machine with the interchangeable type set renders good service. It is of valuable assistance, particularly for correspondence with Russia, Jugo-slavia, Bulgaria and Greece, particularly if the correspondence with these countries is not regular. The exchange can be effected in a very few operations and it is not at all necessary to call in a mechanic.

Varsity Club Hears Two Speakers

Trade and Music
Discussed At House Meeting

"It is to Canada's interest—and British Columbia's especially—to see to it that Australia keeps her buying to Empire countries," Miss Patricia Hamilton Smith told the University Women's Club in her interesting address on "Canada's Place in International Commerce" last night. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. H. L. Smith, Hollywood Crescent.

The speaker reviewed Canada's position as sixth place among the exporting countries of the world and recalled Hon. Chas. Dunning's comments on "Canada's speedy convalescence from the economic ills" which had beset the world so recently. The tendency of this Dominion's trade during the last few years was towards a larger exchange of commodities with other parts of the Empire, an increase which had been stimulated by the trade agreements and British preferential tariffs, she noted.

SECULAR MUSIC

The history of secular music was the subject of the interesting talk given by Mrs. C. S. Beals. While the origin of music had been lost in the mists of antiquity, the pictorial art of ancient Egypt revealed their fondness for music as a social diversion. The ancient Greeks had attached much importance to the acoustic aspect of music, and Greek music was the direct source of medieval and the indirect source of modern music, she noted.

The union song of ancient Greece, first chosen for services of a ritualistic character, had later developed into the Gregorian type of music. Mrs. Beals recalled that the pagan tendency of the period had inspired the antipathy between sacred and secular music which had persisted down through the ages until the present century.

THE TROUBADOURS

But the basis of all modern music could be traced to the twelfth century, the romantic period when the troubadours were at the height of their popularity. She alluded to the influence of Greece, Rome and Arabia upon the music of the troubadours, and spoke of the musical duels or "competitions" carried on between two rival troubadours and the "tournaments" between three or more.

The prestige of the troubadours raised the status of music and musicians in the eyes of the public and by popularizing the performance of vocal and instrumental music as a purely secular diversion, apart from austere forms common to the religious music of the day, they had done much to stimulate the cause of music. Mrs. Beals concluded.

MUSICAL NUMBERS

Miss Merle North delighted the gathering with two delightful songs, "My Dear Soul" and "May Magic," accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen Ockenden. Dr. Olga Jardine, the president, thanked the speakers and the artists for their much appreciated contribution to the programme.

TRIENNIAL AGENDA

At the business meeting held prior to the addresses, donations of $10 each were voted to the Y.W.C.A. household training course and to the Children's Aid.

Correspondence included an agenda of the forthcoming triennial meeting of the Canadian Federation in Toronto, with an outline of the many interesting resolutions and other business to be considered.

Miss Newman, president of the Federation, will be a visitor at the Coast in May, and it was decided to invite her to be the guest speaker at the annual meeting and dinner to be held by the local club, the date to be decided upon later. ## Composers Are Theme Of Talk

At the meeting of the Gordon Head Current Events Club on Monday, Mrs. E. G. Paddon read an interesting paper on the lives of the composers: Bach, Wagner, Dvorak and Greig, illustrating her talk with selections on the piano, from the four composers—a Bach prelude, Wagner's "Oh, Star of Eve'n," Dvorak's "Humoresque" and Greig's "Morning Song" from the Peer Gynt suite.

Bach was born on or about March 21, 1685, at Eisenach, Central Germany, and died about 1749. When he was fifteen his beautiful soprano voice won him a three-year scholarship in an excellent music school. He secured a court appointment as a violinist, where he had access to a splendid organ, later holding a well-paid post as organist at Sunday services. Bach was an honorable and upright man, with pure ideals, and his compositions reflect his character, showing idealism and deep religious feeling.

Shakespeare was the inspiration of Wagner's youth, and his ambition was to write a great tragedy, but his attention was turned to music, and his great creative power found vent in the writing of operas and composition of the librettos. His early years were filled with disappointments and domestic troubles, but success and fame soon came to him. It is difficult to understand Wagner, and his compositions lose their significance when taken out of their proper settings, the speaker noted. His score forms a tone picture, the more perfect because he was musician, dramatist and poet.

Dvorak, the son of an innkeeper, was the greatest Bohemian composer, and one of the greatest masters of recent years. He turned to composing at an early age, and in 1878 wrote the Slav Dances and a cantata, which made him famous. Dvorak was extremely irritable in temperament, disliked society, but kept open house to musicians and celebrities. His "Symphony of the New World" has a very strong appeal, with its touches of sadness, the harmonies of soft-muted strings, and the English horn singing the irritable melody, dreamy and full of longing.

Edward Greig, born in Bergen, Norway, in 1843, grew up in a musical atmosphere, his first teacher being his mother. He became one of the most celebrated pianists of his day. Greig has planted upon the melodies of Norway the impress of his own genius. All that is delicate and tender is found in his music, said Mrs. Paddon. He was genial, cultured and unaffected. He died in 1908, leaving the bulk of his fortune to musical and dramatic institutions in Bergen, Norway.

Miss Barbara Dawson was refreshing in her discussion of current topics. In reference to the forthcoming visit of Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir to the White House the speaker remarked how proud and happy we should be to live in a country where such friendly contacts are possible. Contrasted with this friendly spirit

Georgian Choir Enjoy Social

Following the usual choir practice on Monday evening, the Georgian Chorists held their first social of the spring, which afforded an opportunity for the members to become better acquainted.

Mrs. Georgina Watt, the leader, spoke a few words of appreciation and encouragement of the work that was being done by the members, and remarked about the fine spirit and the wholehearted way in which the ladies were practicing for the forthcoming musical festival.

Mrs. James Reid was thanked for her kindness in raising quite a sum of talent money to add to the treasury of the club.

During the evening a programme of solos and trios was rendered by members of the choir, with Miss Elsie Friend as accompanist. This was followed by a contest arranged by Mrs. J. V. Weston, and in which Mrs. Veitch was the prize winner.

At the close of the evening dainty refreshments were served, the tables being decorated with St. Patrick's Day favors. The hostesses were: Mrs. Wm. Grant, Miss D. Clark, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. J. V. Weston and Mrs. John Kyle.

A hearty vote of thanks moved by Mrs. Greenways was accorded the hostesses of the evening.

Weddings

YOUNG-FUGGLE

The marriage of Dorothy May elder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fuggle, 20 Dallas Avenue, and Mr. Archibald John (Ian) Young, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Young, 1144 Chapman Street, was quietly solemnized last evening at the residence of the officiating minister, Rev. J. A. Reynolds.

The bride wore a charming princess frock of Alice blue, with a smart navy straw hat offset with a veil, and other navy blue accessories and a corsage bouquet of Rapture roses and carnations. The groom wore a tuxedo. Attending the bride was her sister, Miss Owen Fuggle in a pretty frock of blue rose with black accessories and a corsage of roses and violets. Mr. Bruce Young brother of the groom was best man.

An informal reception was held following the service at the home of the bride's parents, where spring flowers adorned the reception room. During the reception the bride and groom stood beneath a floral arch beautifully decorated with pussy willows, daffodils, narcissi and greenery.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Fuggle in a smart navy redingote and matching hat, and Mrs. Young in a becoming navy ensemble with matching accessories. Both wore corsage bouquets of carnations.

The bride's table was laid with a hand-made lace cloth centred with the three-tiered wedding cake placed between tall pink tapers in silver candleabra and vases of pink and white carnations in each corner. During the reception Mr. Harry Nancarrow sang "At Dawning" and "Bells of the Sea."

After a honeymoon motoring on the mainland, for which the bride chose a smart grey tailleur with matching top coat and grey accessories, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Young will reside on Moss Street.

SHILLITO-FAIRHURST

A graduate of the 1936 staff of St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, was the attractive bride at the interesting wedding solemnized at St. Paul's Church, Nanaimo, on Wednesday morning, when Canon H. V. Hitechox officiated in marriage. Elsie, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Fairhurst, 414 Kennedy Street, Nanaimo, and Clifford Arthur, eldest son of Mr. A. Shillito, and the late Mrs. Shillito, Chemainus.

The bride wore a frock of coronation blue metallic crepe cut on tailored lines, over which she wore a coat of imported tweed in blue and grey tone. Navy accessories completed her ensemble. Her corsage was of pink carnations and freesias. She was attended as bridesmaid by her sister, Edith, attired in a mannish tailored suit with matching accessories. Mr. Arthur Martin supported the groom.

The happy couple left on the morning boat for Vancouver and Seattle after a wedding breakfast at the "2nd Cafe, and on their return will take up their residence at Chemainus, where the bride has been a member of the nursing staff of the Chemainus Hospital.

Mrs. Stokowski Is Visitor To City

Wife Of Famous
Musician
Going To Japan

Mrs. Leopold Stokowski, wife of the famous leader of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, who reached Victoria yesterday afternoon from New Milford, Conn., is at the Empress Hotel awaiting the sailing of the liner Empress of Japan for Yokohama tomorrow.

Traveling with her is Miss Helen Parkhurst, a noted educationist in the United States and head of the Dalton School in New York, and Miss Gertrude B. Daily, of St. Paul, Minn.

"We are going to Japan for the Cherry Blossom Festival," said Mrs. Stokowski.

She expressed disappointment that her celebrated husband was unable to accompany her, this being the fifth time that business and professional engagements has interfered with the Stokowski family's holiday plans.

UNDER CONTRACT
Leopold Stokowski accompanied his wife to the coast but was forced to go direct to Hollywood in connection with the screening of a new musical production by Universal, with which company he is under contract.

"The Big Broadcast of 1936" is a notable Paramount production in which Mr. Stokowski was featured last year.

The stay of Mrs. Stokowski in the Orient will be indefinite and will depend largely on "the changing conditions there."

KEEN TO FISH

Expressing regret that her steamship connections prevented her from staying longer in Victoria, which she is visiting for the first time, Mrs. Stokowski inquired about the fishing here, for she is an ardent disciple of Isaac Walton.

"I am intrigued about that slogan of 'No fish, no pay,' which fishing guides advertise here. Is it really true? How can they be so sure of guaranteeing you a catch?" asked Mrs. Stokowski.

Most of yesterday afternoon was spent by the party in viewing the Butchart Gardens, which Mrs. Stokowski, who is a garden lover herself, greatly admired.

INDIAN INTEREST

Interested in Indian life and lore, Mrs. Stokowski made inquiries about the B.C. Coast Indians and expressed a desire to visit the Provincial Museum here to inspect the Indian relics. She is at a loss to understand why the Indians of the interior, who lead a much harder life, have reached a much higher stage of artistic development than is evident among their brothers on the coast. She referred to the highly artistic work of the Indians of New Mexico, skilled in the making of pottery and as silversmiths.

Purple Star Lodge—Victoria Purple Star Lodge No. 104, L.O.B.A., met in the Orange Hall Wednesday night, with Mrs. Melville presiding, assisted by Mrs. Edmonds. Mrs. W. E. The lodge will hold a progressive bridge party at the home of Mrs. Doherty, 1264 Gladstone Avenue, on Wednesday, March 31, phone G6549 for particulars. Arrangements were also made for a court whist to be held in the hall on April 7.

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRID

MANY INFLUENCES CONTRIBUTE TO CHILD'S STUDY DESIRES

The growing boy of twelve or fifteen or beyond goes through a period of physical lassitude which mirrors itself in his reluctance to weary himself further with any mental exercise. When Mrs. G. A. says her twelve-year-old son is so indifferent to his studies that he won't study even if he gets poor grades, she is saying what practically every mother says at some period in her son's school life. Such indifference and such apparent laziness are typical of the years of adolescence. They should be better understood so that mothers may save themselves worry and annoyance. But when the influence of encroaching maturity has been given its full appreciation, then we may have to search still farther for reasons why children lose interest in school work.

There may be home conditions which unfit a child to make the efforts of which he is capable. There may be unhappiness due to his parents. He may be worried about economic conditions which he can suffer, but cannot help. He may be optimistic toward the parent who is eager for him to succeed and his antagonism makes it impossible for him to please her by making the effort to succeed.

He may dislike the teacher and refuse to work because if he succeeded in learning she would be personally gratified. The work may be too hard, or it may be too easy. Both conditions are stifling to ambition. The invaluable tools of both hearing and eyesight may be blunted.

One wishes that there might be some one suggestion which would point the way to an immediate correction of the situation, but there is none. The child's reluctance to study may be influenced by his age alone, or it may be a combination of this and a dozen other factors. The persons closest to him should be able to work out a solution if they know for what to look.

Our leaflet on "Diet for the Adolescent" will be helpful in keeping him well fed. Send a self-addressed, 3-cent stamped envelope to Myrtle Meyer Eldred of the Your Baby and Mine Department of this newspaper with your request for the leaflet by name.

HER NAME IN LIGHTS

By HARRY BLAND

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DAPHNE BRETT, charming young New York advertising executive, is in love with LARRY SMITH, architect. Daphne has one younger sister, JENNIFER.

Jennifer resents Daphne's attempts to guide her career. First she dares to tell Daphne that she is in love with LARRY SMITH, architect. Then she makes a play for LARRY's affections. Thus a strange development between the sisters.

Meanwhile Larry proposes marriage to Daphne, but she tells him she must wait. Her reason is that she feels her first duty is to Jennifer. And the next night she plans to elope with Tuck. But Daphne, fearing of her plans, stops the marriage.

Bitterly angry, Jennifer warns Daphne that "You are sorry you interfered with my love."
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"I know that Jennifer is pretty keen about you. She must have been because she's been sounding me out about how much money you have."

She stopped off talking and sipped her drink while her last remark sank in. Then she went on:
"You might make a good husband for Jennifer at that. She's frightfully extravagant, loves expensive clothes and servants just as much as you do."

Daphne knew that Jennifer was not in Tuck's line. He loved his fine clothes, his expensive little apartment and Daphne knew that it took all his income to keep them up. She watched the dubious frown gather on his forehead.

"She'll be true to you, Tuck. She's that kind because she is jealous. She knows what she wants and what she gets! But once she has got it, it belongs to her. I admire her possessiveness and her go-gettiness, too."

Tuck drew in his breath. Daphne half-expected him to whistle. Instead he took a long swallow.
"As a matter of fact I wouldn't be a bit surprised if this eloping idea was entirely Jennifer's."

"It was," he said unexpectedly and Daphne hated him for it.
Daphne laughed. "And you, Tuck, Almsley, to be taken in by such school-girl tactics! Well, that's up to you. Frankly, I think it might be a good idea. You're lots older than Jennifer and you'd have a steady influence. But I would suggest that instead of running away, you let me announce your engagement and give the child a chance to get ready for a real wedding. To get an apartment for the two of you. You'll need a much larger one than this, of course."

Tuck got up and picked up the suitcase. He took it into the bedroom. Daphne gave herself the luxury of a great sigh of relief and stifled her smile of triumph as he came back.

"Larry Smith is downstairs. Hurry up and get into your dinner jacket and we'll have a party. We'll go on with you where you are picking Jennifer up. Is it a go?"

Daphne didn't think that Tuck could look sheepish. He did now.
"Look," he said, "You do understand, don't you? Jen is a lovely little thing and we . . . well, it seemed like a good idea."

"Of course," she said stolidly. "But I'm sure that you weren't getting the right break. You'd prefer that we announce the engagement wouldn't you?"

He caught his under lip and avoided her eyes. "You've given me something to think about. I mean that age angle. You're always right. Daphne, Jennifer is only eighteen and I'm thirty. Let's talk it over some other time."

"All right," she said cheerfully. "You talk it over with Jennifer. Now hurry."

While she waited and powdered her nose, she thought: Daphne, for a quiet, conservative girl you do manage to pack the exciting things into your life. Well, a little more lipstick might help me to meet the fireworks. Because, my girl, there will be fireworks when sister gets this news.

"Where is she?" she asked Tuck. Tuck, arranging a dark red carnation in his lapel, wore the expression of a man who has been snatched from the edge of a burning pit.

"She's with the Bakers. They're going to El Matador. I'm picking her up there."

"Splendid. Larry and I had planned to go there."

"Darling, we'll be able to go to El Matador, after all," she said to Larry and gave him a warning squeeze of the wrist for silence, when they were three in the taxi.

Jennifer saw them before they saw her. She was seated at a table hidden by palms while they stood at the plush rope. And she felt as surely as though it had been told her, that somehow Daphne had learned about her plans and had spoiled them.

But how much she knew, how much Tuck told her when they were dancing, or whether he told her the truth, was something that Daphne never knew.

For the next two hours while they danced at El Matador and later at the Hi Jinks Club where they went to hear the songs of the latest French discus, Jennifer was gay. And so was Daphne. But when Daphne spoke to Jennifer, Jennifer did not answer.

At last, they were alone in their apartment.
Jennifer undressed silently, bathed and got into her bed. Before she turned off the light, she said: "Daphne, I warned you that if I ever fell in love and you interfered, you'd be sorry. You will be!"

"The pattern calls for a blue band, but I think I'd like it all white," Daphne held up an abbreviated bathing suit she was knitting. "Would you mind it being all white?"

Jennifer didn't look up from her book. "Does it make any difference what I think?"

"I should think it would since I'm making it for you. Or didn't you remember that June 30 is your birthday and June 30 is next week?"

"I'm surprised you didn't make me a pinafore," her sister retorted in the same cold tone that she had given Daphne these last three months. Daphne put her knitting away. "Perhaps there is something else you'd prefer?" she proffered.

Jennifer smiled sweetly. "Why don't you forget it, Daphne? Why don't you leave me alone? You've gotten your way now. I've settled down to modeling at Tay-Jarrett."

Tay-Jarrett was a smart fifty-seventh Street shop—"I go to bed early and watch my diet. I don't go out with any wild people and I don't interfere in your life. Will that be enough?"

"No," Daphne answered, "it will not be. Darling, we can't live this way. For three months you've treated me as though you thoroughly disliked me. Surely you are intelligent enough to know that they would never hurt you that I want to help you. I think you're taking a ridiculous attitude. After all, think what a mistake it would have been for you to marry Tuck. You couldn't have been very much in love with him to be over it so soon."

Jennifer threw down her book and walked the length of the room two or three times. "Whether I happen to be in love or not in love with Tuck is no concern of yours. At least, he hasn't troubled you."

Or you either, Daphne might have said since Tuck had taken himself off to California for "a short visit" three months ago and had not returned.

"Aren't you seeing a lot of Roy Trowbridge? I think he's very attractive."

"I'm not boy crazy," Jennifer said with dignity. "But you wouldn't understand that."

Patience, Daphne tried another tack. "What would you like to do during your two weeks off next month?"

Jennifer said, "Why I'd like to run over to Paris. What would you suggest?"

Unruffled, Daphne answered, "I was going to suggest that you accept Miriam Gatty's invitation to join her family on the Cape."

Miriam had been a classmate at Miss Maidstone's.

"Certainly, I'll accept. And wear what? I haven't had a decent rag in a year and I need loads of sports clothes."

Daphne might have said that Jennifer had spent every cent of her generous salary on clothes. Instead she said, "I've a little money in the bank I could tell you have. You ought to be able to do very well on $200. Summer sports clothes don't cost very much. Suppose I keep the bathing suit and give you the trip?"

Before Jennifer had a chance to answer, her doorbell rang.

"That's Larry and he's early. The Stadium concert's start tonight and we want to get there early," Daphne got up to answer the bell.

Jennifer sighed and walked toward the bedroom. "Please don't go, Jennifer. It isn't necessary for you to run away when Larry comes."

"Who's running away?" Larry demanded.

"I was," Jennifer said. "Hello, Larry."

"Darling, will you find yourself a cigarette and amuse Jennifer for a few minutes? I've got to be domestic. Our maid didn't come today and the laundry is spread out all over my bed. I've got to put it away."

Larry gave a playful tug to Jennifer's golden hair. "Be a good little sister and give your big sister a break. Jennifer will do it, won't you?"

Jennifer's eyes called on Heaven to witness her plight. "Really," she said and picked up her book. "Would you like me to get out a broom, too?"

Larry didn't answer her. He read his newspaper until Daphne, fresh and smart in a sheer tailored suit and small sailor, came into the room.

"Going out, Jennifer?"

"I may." Still she didn't look up. "I've misplaced my door key. Do you think you'll be here when I get back?"

"I haven't any idea," Daphne turned away ashamed of her sister's rudeness, conscious of her own humiliation.

Later, when it was intermission and she and Larry sat on the stone steps high in the stadium, Larry pulled on his pipe and was silent. Daphne had learned to know those silences, which always led up to something he didn't want to say.

"Daphne, would you mind very much if I were to turn Jennifer over my knee and give her a good walloping?" he said at last.

"Yes, I would," she said. "It doesn't do any good to try and keep from you that Jennifer is being difficult. But, children usually are and she's a child. I know her well. If this attack happens to last a little longer than usual, she'll still get over it. She needs understanding, and I wish you'd make an effort to give it to her. Jennifer is generous, warm-hearted and penitent when she gets over her fits. I want you to promise me that you'll make an effort to get to know her. You could bring out the best in her if you'd try. Will you?"

"I'll take her to the zoo on Friday and buy her the biggest doll I can find."

"I'm serious, Larry."

"And I'm serious, too, honey. I'll do anything that would make you happy. By the way, I haven't asked you to marry me since last Sunday. What about it?"

"Only this," she said, and kissed him on the nose.

She was glad of the silence between them when the music began. Glad she wouldn't have to try to be gay. That would have been hard. She'd only been able to save $200, and now she was going to give it to Jennifer for a holiday. She had that to think about. She would never have thought of that. I want you to promise me that you'll make an effort to get to know her. You could bring out

CLEAR SKINS AND SWEET BREATHS

tell mothers "CRISCO FOODS are DIGESTIBLE"

READ THIS MOTHER'S DISCOVERY!

Dear Makers of Crisco:

"I used to think children should be denied many adult foods—and it took a lot of extra work to prepare two kinds of desserts. Then I found I could serve my 5 children Crisco desserts and their clear skins and sweet breaths prove good digestion. Crisco is truly digestible!"

Mrs. Floyd Uglow

LIKE Mrs. Uglow, thousands of mothers use Crisco in a new health plan of cooking. The news is traveling fast today. "Crisco foods are so digestible that even children can enjoy them!"

And when you try Crisco, you'll see why Crisco is the perfect shortening. Open the can—and you'll see a lovely snowy creamy shortening that's your ideal of purity! In every detail, Crisco is wholesome because it is 100% vegetable shortening in a light creamy form. Its delicate taste alone tells you that Crisco foods will taste good—and be good for you.

Crisco will bring "good luck" to your cakes, because they'll be easier than ever to mix and lighter than ever before. And after you've made your first Crisco pastry, you'll never be satisfied with the heavy old-fashioned kind—because Crisco pie crusts are light, crisp and flaky, with the bottom crust as good to eat as the top crust! Your first experience of frying with Crisco will be a revelation—no smoke or smell at proper temperatures. And your family will tell you that the results are as crisp and wholesome as if baked!

Give Crisco a complete try—and you'll say, too, "Crisco costs little beside the health protection it gives me!"

JIFFY APPLE SAUCE CAKE

1 cup sugar 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 cups flour 1/2 cup Crisco
1 teaspoon baking powder 1 cup sweetened apple sauce
1/2 teaspoon soda 1/2 cup thick sour milk
1/2 teaspoon salt 2 eggs (save 1 white)
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon 1 cup seedless raisins
1/2 teaspoon allspice 1/2 cup chopped walnuts

Can you mix a cake in three minutes? Yes! With Crisco, that is ready-creamed, there is no creaming to do! Try this fast, easy method! Sift all dry ingredients into mixing-bowl. Add all other ingredients. Beat thoroughly until smooth. Pour into a shallow "Criscoed" pan (8" x 12") and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 30 to 35 minutes. When cool, cover with Cinnamon Frosting: Put 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons of soft cinnamon drops, 3 tablespoons hot water and 1 egg white in top of double boiler over boiling water. Cook and beat constantly with Dover beater 7 minutes. Remove from stove—continue beating until frosting is a spreading consistency.

All Measurements Level. Crisco is the registered trademark of a shortening manufactured by the Procter & Gamble Co. Crisco has had the Good Housekeeping Bureau Seal of Approval since 1913—for 24 years.

New Strike Epidemic Sweeps U.S.

Sitting girls, sleeping women, barricaded men—it all adds up to the new epidemic of "sit-down" strikes which has swept the United States. Above are shown two young women of the Farmer's Baking Co., Detroit, as they turn in for their six-hour sleeping shift, while another of the plant's 400 striking men and women workers tucks them in. At right two girls leaders of the same strike sit down to make their demands for higher pay, shorter hours. They are, left, Alberta Jesky, and Agnes Jodel.

Defence League Selects Heads

Victoria Group Names Capt. N. E. Fairweather As President

Victoria branch Defence of Canada League Division No. 1 elected Capt. Neville E. Fairweather as president at the annual meeting in Foresters' Hall last night.

Peter Hartnell was chosen vice-president; W. Davies, secretary-treasurer; A. M. Jones, organizer, with the following as committee chairman: Publicity, B. A. McKelvie; education, W. Butler; auditing and finance, Geo. W. Deaville; organization, Miss Reid. The league, it was stated, has as its objective the more adequate defence of Canada, internally and externally. It opposes the export of raw material which might be helpful to other nations in time of war, and is against the enfranchisement of Orientals.

In discussions on these points last night the following speakers were heard: Mrs. E. Watson, C. F. Thomas, P. J. Sinnott, Mr. Deaville and Mr. Hartnell.

Plans were made to hold future meetings on the fourth Friday of each month in A.O.F. Hall.

Aviation Sets Pace In Weather Forecasts

Washington, March 19.—Need of commercial aviation for immediate and detailed weather information, kept right up to the minute, rather than the looser, more generalized reporting for a whole day at a time that was thought good enough before men trusted themselves and their goods to the upper air, is bringing about a revolution in weather service for non-flying purposes, too, states W. R. Gregg, chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau, in his report made public by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The new type of weather reporting is of course costlier than the old, but it is absolutely indispensable if flying is to be carried on in safety. And now the same kind of weather information is beginning to be appreciated as valuable by shipping interests, farmers, dairymen, promoters of athletics and other forms of outdoor entertainment, and many other people.

Demands on the Weather Bureau during the past year have been abnormally heavy, because of the variety and violence of the weather during the period covered by the report. Unusual winter cold, blizzards, spring floods, blazing summer heat, desperate drought—all these have called for special surveys, reports, maps and the bureau has supplied them.

The Weather Bureau looks toward the future, too. Mr. Gregg indicates. Special attention is being paid to two modern developments in meteorology, the method of air mass analysis, and efforts to learn weather trends farther ahead than the few days that at present constitute the limits of reliable forecasting.

Royal Mail Is Winner Of Grand National Steeplechase

THE SPORTS MIRROR

By PETE SALLAWAY

DOMINOES and Varsity open their series tonight to settle the British Columbia senior men's basketball championship on the spacious floor of the U.B.C. gym at Point Grey. It will be a best three-out-of-five affair with the Dominoes determined to make it three provincial championships in a row and the scrappy students just as confident of transporting the title back across the waters of the gulf. Regardless of the outcome we can guarantee the play-off will be a bitter one from start to finish with neither club asking any quarter.

Looking at the finalists from a season's record angle we must certainly call the Dominoes to win. Although the Victoria club opened the current season with practically a new squad its record has been brilliant. In addition to a first-class showing in local exhibition engagements against track touring and out-of-town teams the hebecheered lads invaded Seattle and covered themselves with glory in the annual Pacific Northwest tournament. The Dominoes more than upset the odds in their first game in the Sound City when they knocked over the Alpine Dairy quintette, touted as the finest squad in Seattle. The reputation of the Dominoes has reached Vancouver as the boys over there will not take a wager on Varsity unless given 3 to 1 odds. And the money is hard to find even at those odds.

But don't count Varsity out of the running. These student clubs always have something that makes them tough to beat. Outsiders can laugh and poke fun at that old alma mater spirit but it can raise athletes to unexpected heights. When the Varsity five step onto the floor tonight and tomorrow evening they will have hundreds of wildly enthusiastic fellow students shouting their support. It will mean a whole lot. If the Dominoes can split the first two games at Vancouver they will be doing well. Of course, a double victory would be perfect and practically clinch the title.

Victoria West and Victoria City first division soccer teams will fight it out tomorrow for possession of the Phoenix Cup. It should be a good exhibition. In the last meeting between these two clubs the City sprang a surprise by handing the Green-shirts their first setback in league competition this season. The Wests have only been beaten twice, but the City lads figure to make it three losses tomorrow. The City had all the best of it last time, but the Wests figure to have an even chance of victory tomorrow. The club which scores the first goal should win.

After a week of rest at home Paul Rowe, one of the finest English rugby players ever developed here, will return to the University of Oregon and go into six weeks of spring football training. "After don't ever think that spring training is a cinch," Rowe told the writer. "It is tougher than the games in the Pacific Coast Conference and takes more out of you."

Rowe states that he is practically a cinch to grab off the fullback position on the Varsity squad. Last season, as a freshman, Paul handled the backfield job on the freshman team that won the Pacific Northwest championship. After spring training Rowe will take it easy during the summer and then play conference football, starting early in October. The Victoria athlete has decided to give up his track activities, except possibly as a means to get exercise.

Finishes Three Lengths On Top; Colleen Second

Third Place in Aintree Test to Pucka Belle; Only Six Horses Finish

Golden Miller Is Out Early

Canadian Press

Aintree, March 19.—Lloyd Thomas's Royal Mail, running a beautiful race over Aintree's four and a half miles, today won the centenary of the Grand National steeplechase before King George and Queen Elizabeth and a crowd of 500,000.

Jimmy Rank's nine-year-old mare Colleen was second and E. W. Bailey's Pucka Belle took third money.

Royal Mail took the lead soon after passing the grandstand the first time and never was headed. Ridden by Evan Williams, he finished three lengths in front of Colleen, who beat Pucka Belle by ten lengths.

Only six of the thirty-three starters finished the race over a course made heavy by almost constant rain over the past week.

EGO IS FOURTH
Sir David Llewellyn's Ego, one of the favorites, was fourth, with R. Strutt's Crown Prince fifth and A. Pilkington's Pencil six.

S. Wilkinson's Don Brumand fell early in the race but was remounted and got credit for finishing seventh, and last, although he was a quarter-mile back of the first six.

The heavily-backed Golden Miller, winner in 1934, did not finish. The winner paid 100 to 6. Colleen and Pucka Belle were sold at 3 to 1 and 100 to 6, respectively.

The course took such a terrific toll that only twelve horses were on their feet after completing half the long trip. Royal Mail was clocked in 9.59.6, far behind the record of 9.20.4, made by Miss Dorothy Page's Golden Miller three years ago.

GREAT TRIUMPH
Royal Mail was winter-book favorite for the famous jumping classic and held that position in the waning months of the season when he made several bad performances in trial races. The gelded son of My Prince is a robust, beautifully proportioned horse of perfect jumping type. It was a great triumph for his noted trainer, Ivor Anthony.

Golden Miller, well up the first time over Becher's Brook, refused at Anchor Bridge. It was the third year in a row that Miss Page's gelding had started well backed by the bettors and failed to complete the heart-testing course.

The rain had stopped temporarily when the thirty-three jumpers, well behaved and beautifully groomed, paraded to the starting post. They were off at 7.17 a.m. P.S.T., and Tapino led Ready Cash, Ego and Doloric over the first fence.

The first to fall was the eleven-year-old hefty chestnut, Don Brumand, who later was remounted and went on to finish seventh and last.

Ready Cash led over treacherous Becher's Brook, with Sunspot II, Golden Miller, Delaneir, Pucka Belle, Drim and Royal Mail close on his heels in that order.

Before Anchor Bridge was reached What Have You and Ready Cash had fallen. At Anchor Bridge itself Golden Miller went out and his thousands of backers had been let down again.

At that point Drim was leading Pucka Belle, with Royal Mail, Colleen and Ego close behind.

As the field completed the course first time round the mare Pucka Belle was in front, followed by Flying Minutes, Royal Mail, Ego, Dryburgh, Delchance, Becher's Brook and Keen Blade in that order.

Gordon Wallace Fights April 2

Toronto, March 19.—Gordon Wallace, Vancouver, Canadian welterweight boxing champion, will defend his crown against Sammy Luftspring, Toronto, here April 2. They will battle over the ten-round route.

When manager Jack Allen signed for the fight yesterday with Doc Cook, Luftspring's manager, it was agreed if Luftspring won he would defend the crown in a return match before fighting anyone else.

ICE FINALS PROVE KEEN

Canadian Clubs in Great Struggles For National Championships

Southern Manitoba hockey addicts agreed today if their hope could only declare a junior champion it would be halfway toward winning the Memorial Cup. Southern Manitoba has been producing a flock of youngsters for professional ranks of late years.

The bitter fight Winnipeg Monarchs and Portage La Prairie Terriers are waging for district honors has worked up the constituents. The opener was one-sided—a 6 to 1 victory for Portage—but Winnipeg took the second game 3 to 2, and last night they played a 1 to 1 overtime tie in the rubber match. A fourth contest, slated for tomorrow, was made necessary.

An eastern series that has rivalled the Winnipeg-Portage affair in intensity will be concluded tomorrow at Toronto, when St. Michael's College will be at home to Stratford Midgits. Both traditional producers of great junior machines, St. Michael's and Stratford are even in four games for the Ontario Hockey Association title.

Ottawa Rideaus and Perth will begin a total-goals round for the Ottawa and district championship tonight. The winner will play Amherst St. Fats, victors in the Maritimes.

Last night Sudbury Tigers, successors to Sibirsky Falcons who won the eastern Canada senior crown in 1936, eliminated Port Colborne sailors from Allan Cup playdowns. The teams tied 1 to 1 in the opener of the total-goals series and Tigers won the second game in Port Colborne 6 to 4. Jim Dewey, former Moose Jaw luminary, led Sudbury with four goals.

Sudbury will play the Toronto and York metropolitan champions, Good years or Domions, in the next round of playdowns.

Soccer Players To Receive Cups

Line-ups for tomorrow's soccer matches follow:

Victoria City—Rowe, Moody, Roper, Reside, G. Robbins, C. Robbins, Youson, George Payne, Halkett, Peers, Moore, Brandon and R. Okell.
Sanwich Thistles (second division)—Elliot, Armistage, Hill, Hodgkinson, Coleman, Hayward, Mitchell, Murray, Oakley, Hetherington, Williams, T. Noble and R. Noble.

Victoria Athletic Club—Thomas, Simpson, Tonkin, Popham, Atherton, McAllister, Shubrooke, Mar, Perkins, Simpson, Travis, C. Smith, E. Smith, Foreman, Watson, Lowe and Hardy.

Players are asked to be at Oak Bay Park by 10.15 o'clock.
Oak Bay Ramblers—McCready, D. Brown, McKay, Donaghy, Anderson, Olsen, Scott, T. Brown, Blyth, McIntosh, Wright, Bannister, Wells, Sheppard and Clayards. Players are requested to be at Oak Bay Park by 10 o'clock.

McDonald Not Badly Injured

Detroit, March 19.—Jack Adams, manager of Detroit Red Wings, awoke today from a "nightmare" that involved the 1937 Stanley Cup hockey playoffs.

Dr. C. L. Tomsu, team physician, set Adams' mind at rest with the announcement that an infection in Bucko McDonald's left leg, which threatened to keep the star defenceman from the ice, had been checked. McDonald was a hero of Detroit's first Stanley Cup victory last season, and Adams was counting on him again this season.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

—By John Hix

FLIGHT OF THE CRIPPLE

Considered as daring in its day as the New York to Paris hop of Charles Lindbergh was regarded years later, the air trail-blazing flight across the English Channel stands as one of the most important events in the forward march of aviation history.

Two men raced to get their ships in readiness for the flight—Hubert Latham and Louis Bleriot. Latham won out. Taking off on July 19, 1909, from Sangatte, near Calais, he travelled about seven miles toward England's shores when his motor cut out. Gliding down to the water, he settled gently on the surface. The hollow wings of the plane proved of sufficient buoyancy to hold the ship up. A French torpedo boat picked up the pilot and towed the airplane ashore.

Louis Bleriot sent his sympathies to Latham and ruefully considered his own bad luck. With the opportunity of being the first to fly the channel still open, he was laid up with a severely burned leg, suffered in a gasoline explosion a short time before. The early morning hours of July 25, 1909, found him fretfully tossing around in bed. He arose at 2.30 a.m. saw perfect flying weather, and came to a decision. Leg or no leg, he was going to fly the Channel right now.

Dressing, he got in touch with his mechanics, hobbled painfully on crutches to his plane, checked it over and took off at 4.35 a.m. Flying at an altitude of 250 feet all the way across, Bleriot brought his plane to earth in Northfall meadow, near Dover, England, just thirty-seven minutes later.

Dominoes-Varsity Cage Game to Be Broadcast

Tonight's opening game of the British Columbia senior men's basketball championship series between the Victoria Dominoes and University of British Columbia Thunderbirds at the Varsity gym, Point Grey, will be broadcast over radio station CKMO. The game is expected to get under way shortly after 9 o'clock. The second game will be played tomorrow evening.

Accompanied by a large contingent of fans the Dominoes left on this afternoon's boat for Vancouver. In charge of Manager Dave Nicol, the following players made the trip: Art and Chuck Chapman, Hank Rowe, Austin Webster, Roy Taylor, Axel Klinear, Carl Coates, Jack Motishaw, Bert Davies and Ken Noakes.

Dizzy Dean Has Signed Contract

Great Pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals Unexpectedly Ends Holdout and Accepts $25,000 Salary; Claims He Will Win Twenty-five Or More Games

Associated Press

Bradenton, Fla., March 19.—Dizzy Dean abruptly ended his wordy holdout siege today and accepted salary terms, a few hours after the St. Louis Cardinals approved the pitcher's application for voluntary retirement.

Provisions of the one-year contract were not disclosed, but the generally accepted figure was $25,000—said to have been the Cardinals' top offer and just half the price the right-hander insisted his services were worth. "I'm glad this thing is settled and I can devote all my thoughts to the business of helping the Cards recapture that National League bunting," commented Dean.

Dean said he had a long talk with Mrs. Dean last night, and they reached the conclusion "it would be foolish for me to stay out of baseball at a time when I've just reached my peak, with years of good pitching left in my arm."

Immediately after announcing he had signed, Dean proceeded to win the National League pennant verbally for himself and associates.

"I've already said I could win twenty-five or more games this season, and if I keep on feeling as good as I do right this minute I'm liable to top my best figure of thirty games made back in 1934," he chortled.

In the only first division football match scheduled for tomorrow afternoon Victoria West and Victoria City will meet at the Athletic Park at 2.45 o'clock in the final of the Phoenix Cup series. J. C. Dows will referee. Overtime will be played if necessary.

The opening round matches saw the Wests eliminate the Sanwich Thistles and the City account for Esquimalt.

Two matches will be played in the second division. Victoria West and Sanwich Thistles are drawn at Heywood Avenue with Dave Swan as referee and Esquimalt will meet the Coopers at Bullen Park with T. Robb in charge. These games will get under way at 2.45 o'clock.

OAKLANDS WIN RUGBY TROPHY

Defeat Boys' Central School 14 to 0 to Capture Colonist Cup

Oaklands School rugby fifteen yesterday afternoon won The Colonist Cup, symbolic of the schools' senior rugby championship, for the third consecutive year, when they humbled Boys' Central School, 14 to 0, in a sudden-death battle for the trophy at Macdonald Park.

First-half play was fairly even. Oaklanders only being able to mark up three points. In the final session, however, the winners had a decided edge and scored an additional eleven points.

Oaklands ushered in their scoring fourteen minutes after the start of play when Woodburn ran over the line for a touchdown. The Central lads during the remainder of the half made many spirited attempts to score. On occasions they forced their way to within a few feet of Oaklanders' line, but were always held off.

The most spectacular try of the match came soon after the resumption of play when Louis McCorkill raced twenty-five yards to score near the corner. He converted his try to give Oaklanders an 8 to 0 lead. Fifteen minutes later Billy Knowles sprinted over the Central line after securing a loose ball. Oaklanders netted their final points near the finish. McCorkill engineered a three-quarter run that terminated with A. Seod crashing over for a try.

Alec Gaunt, referred. The teams follow:
Oakland—Piggott, E. Seod, Woodburn, A. Seod, W. Knowles, McCorkill, McCaghey, Beecher, Barnes, Harper, Swaine, Lea and Brathwaite.

Boys' Central—Lindgren, Bousfield, Masters, Harrison, Corlett, Southern, Macdonald, Fraser, Brown, Heller, Martin, Holm and Alexander.

School Soccer Teams in Draw

The Victoria High School A and Esquimalt soccer teams battled to a no score deadlock this week in a Colonist Cup fixture at Bullen Park. Both teams were fairly evenly matched but owing to the wind it was a poor exhibition. The two teams will meet again on the Fernwood grounds next Wednesday. The winner will play Victoria High School B team in the semi-finals.

Soccer Teams

Tonight, in the library of the Veterans of France, Douglas Street, a presentation of cups to players who helped win the Jackson Cup during the 1935-36 season for the Victoria City club will be made at 8 o'clock. The following players are asked to attend:

Wally Rowe, John Roper, Rolie Moody, Glen Robbins, Cliff Robbins, Dave Robertson, George Payne, Jack Payne, A. Tregellis, Eddie Moore, Terry Peers and Tommy Smith.

WRESTLING

Camden, N.J.—Gino Garibaldi, 218, St. Louis, defeated Chief Little Wolf, 216, Denver, two of three falls.
Washington—Rudy Dusek, 220, Omaha, pinned Hank Barber, 218, Boston, twenty-nine minutes.
Hartford, Conn.—Rube Wright, 224, Arizona, and Nick Lutz, 210, California, drew, 1.30.

Gunners Have Good Chance to Break Tie With Charlton at Head of English Football League Tomorrow; Aberdeen-Rangers Clash in Scottish Feature

London, March 19.—Approach of the heavy Easter programme finds Arsenal and Charlton Athletic battling on even terms for English Football League leadership. The two London clubs each have forty-three points, with the Gunners taking first place by virtue of a superior goal average.

But Arsenal has a good opportunity to break the tie tomorrow. At home to Birmingham, the Highbury squad is backed to capture maximum points while the faltering Charlton team will have to show championship form if it is not to return empty-handed from Derby, holder of seventh-place in the table.

At this time of the year soccer form usually runs awry as low-placed clubs stage desperate struggles to improve their position. Manchester United, the tail-enders, is expected to put up a spirited effort in its home game against Grimsby Town at Old Trafford and may emerge victorious. The same can be said of Bolton, only one point removed from the Mancunians. West Bromwich Albion are the visitors at Bolton and the cup-aspiring Thistles may return with the score marked on the wrong side of the ledger.

GREAT HOME TEAM
Sunderland, favorite for the cup, has conceded only one point in home games this season, and may beat Chelsea. The Roker Park outfit is seven points behind Arsenal and can hardly hope to repeat last season's championship in league warfare.

Aston Villa and Blackpool will provide the outstanding second division contest. The second-tier clubs are put up a spirited effort in its home game against Grimsby Town at Old Trafford and may emerge victorious. The same can be said of Bolton, only one point removed from the Mancunians. West Bromwich Albion are the visitors at Bolton and the cup-aspiring Thistles may return with the score marked on the wrong side of the ledger.

A long journey to Southampton is in store for Leicester City, runner-up and despite their strength the Midlanders will be lucky if they defy the spoils.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE
Glasgow, March 19.—Things have been breaking well for Aberdeen Football Club in both league and cup play this season. The Dons will have the pleasure—plus the profit—of welcoming Glasgow Rangers this weekend in what promises to be the most "bitterly fought game on the Scottish League card."

Fresh from a 2 to 1 fourth-round cup win over Hamilton Academicals Wednesday, the Aberdeenians will try to pierce the cupholders' powerful defence and cut down the four-point margin Rangers hold at the top of the loop.

The Dons have yet to win either trophy, while the Glasgow club's blue-ribbon years generously record books. From a financial standpoint the northern team is experiencing one of its best seasons and the treasury should benefit from a "full house" for this contest.

AFTER LEAGUE

Rangers are out of the cup competition and now devoting all efforts to the league crown. On the other hand, Aberdeen has gained the semi-final of the cup and with five weeks of the 1936-37 season left in second place and holds a three-point lead over Hearts and Celtic in league warfare.

At Inver Park, November 7 last, Rangers triumphed over Aberdeen, 2 to 1. Tomorrow's game is the last between the two teams this year.

Both Hearts and Celtic have away games, the former against Hamilton Academicals while St. Mirren provides the Celtic opposition. The visitors are favored.

Bracketed in fifth position, three points down, Falkirk and Third Lanark also play on foreign soil, and again the visiting teams are given the edge. Falkirk tackles Partick Thistle at Glasgow and Third Lanark has a comparatively soft touch at Dunfermline.

Two other battles are down for decision at Glasgow. The hard cup-fighting Clyde eleven is host to Kilmarnock and Queen's Park entertains Queen of South.

Remaining contests bring together Albion Rovers and St. Johnstone, Arbroath and Dundee and Hibernians and Motherwell.

Almost certain of returning to the premier league after a year's stay in the second division, Ayr United plays at home tomorrow against Morton, in second place. St. Bernards, tied with Morton eight points in the rear of Ayr, has a home game against Airdrieonians.

Syl Apps Moves Into Scoring Leadership In Major Hockey

Toronto Rookie Has One Point Margin On Trio

Marty Barry and Sweeney Schriner Crowding Leader; Barry Has More Games

Toronto-Amerks In Victories

A tired netminder or a sympathetic scorer may decide the point-scoring championship of the National Hockey League this season. With only five games to play it's just that close.

Syl Apps, sensational Toronto rookie, moved ahead of the pack last night when he scored half Toronto's goals in their 2 to 1 victory over Canadiens at Montreal. He has forty-four points made up of sixteen goals and twenty-eight assists.

Trailing him by a point are Marty Barry, all-star Detroit centre, Sweeney Schriner of New York Americans and Larry Aurie, out of the Detroit lineup with a leg injury. Schriner pulled into the runner-up tie with three goals in Amerks' 9 to 4 win from Chicago last night. It was the highest scoring game of the season.

The high-scoring game at New York was loosely played. Schriner, Nels Stewart of Amerks and Paul Thompson each got three goals. Eddie Wiseman, Joe Jerwa and Pete Leswick scored the other New York counters and Peg Kelly got the first Hawk counter.

GIVES LEAFS EDGE

Besides moving Apps up ahead, the Toronto victory gave Leafs a possible edge in their Stanley Cup series with New York Rangers. Leafs now have more points than Rangers and can choose where the series starts. They will, of course, play the first game in New York next Tuesday and the second in Toronto Thursday. If a third is necessary it also will be played in Toronto.

That is all supposing that Leafs don't make second place. They would have to beat Detroit Saturday, and Montreal Maroons would have to lose Saturday to Americans and Sunday to Detroit for Leafs to beat them.

There was only a little more than a minute of the third period left when Leafs scored their second goal last night. Walter Buswell spilled Happy Day, and while he was serving the penalty, Gordon Drillon scored. Apps

Navy to Meet Bays Tomorrow

Canadian Scottish and Oak Bay Wanderers Clash in Rugby Playoff

Local rugby fans will have the opportunity of seeing two oval ball games tomorrow afternoon at MacDonald Park when the Navy and J.B.A.A. senior fifteens clash at the upper pitch and the Canadian Scottish and the Oak Bay Wanderers in inter-mediate play at the lower field.

Tied for second place with one point apiece in the second half of the Barnard Cup series, the Navy and the rowing club ruggers should put on a good show when they meet on the upper field. Unless the game is a draw the standings in the senior league will be reshuffled with the winner one point ahead of the Scottish.

In the event of a draw the winning squad will be tied with the militiamen for first place.

The intermediate match will be in the nature of a play-off fixture for the second half championship in the Heyland Cup series. Victory for the Oak Bay boys will give them the second half honors while a win for the Scots will force another play-off fixture between the same fifteens for the championship.

Alan LeMarquand will handle the senior fixture, while K. Symons will be in charge of the intermediate game.

Hoyle-Brown In Island Triumph

Although defeated 34 to 28 at Alberni last night in the second game of the Island senior B men's basketball final Victoria Hoyle-Brown won the championship by a twenty-three point margin as a result of their 59 to 39 victory here. The locals won the home and home total point series 87 to 64.

Forced to take the floor with only five men, as the result of one of their cars breaking down, Hoyle-Brown had a tough time in the first half last night and at half-time the uplanders had sliced their deficit to ten points. In the second half, however, the Victoria team had a decided edge. Hoyle-Brown will now meet the mainland winners in the coast final.

THE BIG SEVEN

Scoring a goal, Syl Apps, Toronto, took undisputed possession of the National Hockey League's scoring leadership last night, but the feature of the evening was the hat-trick performance of Americans' Dave Schriner and Nels Stewart and Chicago's Paul Thompson. Schriner, last season's scoring champion, moved into a three-way tie for second place with Larry Aurie and Marty Barry, Detroit, one behind Apps' forty-four-point total. Meanwhile, Thompson came into the Big Seven for the first time this season.

Boston Sox Will Make Few Changes

Joe Cronin Expects Club to Do Much Better This Season in American League Baseball Campaign; Finished Sixth Last Year; Has Four Good Hurlers

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Sarasota, Fla., March 19.—Nothing less than a strong first-division finish will satisfy young Joe Cronin and his gold-plated Boston Red Sox this season.

Cronin yesterday predicted richer pickings for the $1,000,000 beauties was scammed off with almost all the consolation prizes in baseball for 1936.

Joe strings along with the New York Yankees to repeat, but believes his Sox may be the team to beat. Last year the club into which owner Tom Yawkey poured a fortune could do no better than a dismal sixth. But so sure are both Yawkey and Cronin that their 1937 flops are on a par with the best of the other clubs in the American League, they're going to stake their chances this year on virtually the same crew.

ONLY CHANGES

The only changes anticipated are at second and third bases and in one of the outfield spots.

Frank Higgins is up from Philadelphia in exchange for Bill Werber and cash to join Jimmy Foss, Lefty Grove and a half-dozen other former Athletic colleagues. He has third base clinched.

Foss, looking as good as ever, will be back on first. Another former Athletic, Eric McNair, will hold down shortstop.

Young Bobby Doerr, who hit .342 for San Diego, will be given every opportunity to become the Sox's regular

Grise Taking Bucktail Flies

Using combination red and white bucktail flies, with a tiny spinner and about seventy feet of line, Roger Montelth and Wallace H. McMillan reeled in twenty grise, the limit per boat, at Brentwood yesterday afternoon. They made their catches chiefly in the waters between Senatus Island and Indian Bay and had plenty of fun fighting the fish with light tackle.

second sacker.

In the outfield, Mel Almado and Roger Cramer are sure of jobs. Dominic Deleandaro, a pint-sized speedster from Syracuse; Fabian Gaffie from Minneapolis and Coland Mills, a hard hitter from Rochester, are fighting for third post.

Cronin counts on Grove, still the best southpaw in the American League despite his thirty-six years; Wes Ferrell, Johnny Marcum and Fred Ostermueller as his four starting pitchers.

The reliable Rick Ferrell and the educated Moe Berg again will attend to the backstopping.

Hospital Needs Draw Comment

Many Patients Can Be Treated in Homes, Provincial Secretary Says

The question of need for hospitalizing some patients was raised today by Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, in comment on recent requests of hospital authorities for government aid in providing extra accommodation.

The Jubilee Hospital board has asked government aid for a new $300,000 wing, following a plan from the Vancouver General Hospital for a $1,500,000 addition. Nanaimo also claims the need of extra space. Hospital authorities have pointed to the possibility of increased demand for hospital beds when health insurance comes into force.

Dr. Weir admitted that congestion exists at the Vancouver General and the Jubilee Hospital, "but," he said, "only misinformed people will raise the health insurance bogey on this account."

British Columbia, the minister said, has the largest rate of hospitalization of any province in Canada, a problem, incidentally, which was now being tackled vigorously by the provincial welfare department.

"Under our own division of tuberculosis control we have 4,100 tuberculous patients. Only 650 of them are in hospital. The balance are treated in their homes. Surely there is a moral to be drawn from this?" he said. "Under the Health Insurance Act the commission can provide nursing service in the home as well as medical service. The hospital should be reserved for acute cases, surgical cases, obstetrical cases and the like."

Dr. Weir said that as far as the Victoria situation was concerned, there was congestion at the Jubilee, but he was informed that seventy additional beds could be made available at St. Joseph's Hospital on twenty-four hours' notice.

Make Tour Of Forest Camps

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, with his chief forester, E. C. Manning, will make a tour next week of the provincial forestry camps on Vancouver Island.

Mr. Manning expects to leave Monday morning and will meet Mr. Gray at Nanaimo. They will visit the camp there, then go to Parksville and Campbell River. Returning Wednesday they will visit the Cowichan River camp.

Theft of a Waltham golf-filled watch from his home yesterday morning was reported to city police by William Foster, Lime Bay.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at luncheon at 12.10 o'clock on Monday in Spencer's dining-room.

The Victoria Male Choir will give its annual concert at Rest Haven tomorrow. All members are requested to meet at the City Hall at 7.15 p.m.

Thieves who broke into McMillan's Auto Camp, Gorge Road, yesterday evening, ransacked the premises but took nothing, according to a city police report.

In the Saanich Police Court this morning, Ronald Bassett was committed for trial on two charges involving statutory offences. He was also committed yesterday on a similar charge.

Robert Creelman, passenger traffic manager, Canadian National Railways, Winnipeg, went fishing with George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, on Saanich Inlet yesterday. The bag was twelve gillie.

The first game in the final senior A basketball series, between the Victoria Dominions and the University of British Columbia squad, will be broadcast this evening by station CFCF, starting at 9 o'clock.

A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., will be the speaker at the regular meeting of Ward Three Liberals tonight at 8 o'clock at Liberal headquarters, Government Street. Important business will be discussed at the meeting.

Cars driven by William L. Erb, Esquimalt Road, and George H. Stude, 2321 Cook Street, were badly damaged in an accident at Douglas and Herald Streets early this morning, according to a city police report.

C. J. McDowell will address members of Ward Two, Saanich Liberal Association, at 8 o'clock Monday evening in Crest's Hall, Douglas Street. His subject will be "The West Coast Road." Discussion will follow. N. W. Whitaker, M.P.P. for Saanich, will also address the meeting. All Liberals of the district and their friends are urged to attend.

Mayor Andrew McGavin, chairman of the water board, was informed today another 160 feet of the Sooke siphon would have to be repaired in addition to the section for the replacement of which plans have already been made. The mayor believed the extra work would be done within the $10,000 appropriation earmarked for it, but would not cost more than $700 more than the appropriation if that amount were exceeded.

R. A. Allison, 2331 Blackwood Avenue, today interviewed Alderman John A. Worthington with a request for support for a scheme to construct a road around the waterfront at Ocean View Beach to tidal flats on the other side of Saanichton Spit. Mr. Allison stated the drive would be an excellent tourist attraction and the tidal flats would form an ideal swimming location. He suggested the scheme be given the support of Victoria and Saanich in an appeal to the provincial government for the road's construction.

Review Needs Of Department

General details concerning the type of fire department which Oak Bay will be required to set up in accordance with underwriters' rates were discussed this morning at a conference between Reeve R. Taylor and the Oak Bay Council, and John L. Noble, manager of the fire branch, British Columbia Underwriters' Association and other association officials.

The two-hour conference was held privately, and on its conclusion no disclosure was made of what had been discussed.

It was understood, however, that the underwriters went thoroughly into the question of the necessary equipment which the municipality would be required to install, and it was also hinted that a larger personnel would be required than had been planned upon by the municipality.

Owing to the general lack of detailed information concerning the cost of the proposed Oak Bay department, it was felt that further discussion with the underwriters should await the shaping of more definite plans by the municipality.

MAN KILLED ON MALAHAT

Samuel Workman, Construction Superintendent, Crushed By Truck

Samuel Workman, superintendent of the Ryan Construction Company, was instantly killed shortly after noon today when one of the company trucks operating at Goldstream ran over him.

He died before medical aid could be summoned.

It was reported, however, that Mr. Workman was coming in for lunch on one of the trucks and as it reached the cut-off into Goldstream flats he jumped off while the truck was still in motion.

He misjudged the jump and fell short, the dual wheels of the large truck passing over him.

Dr. George Hall and the C. and C. Ambulance were called but life was extinct on their arrival.

The body was taken in the ambulance to Sands Mortuary.

The Little Theatre's production of "The Skin Game," John Galsworthy's three-act tragedy, was presented to a large and appreciative audience in the Empire Theatre yesterday evening.

As all who are interested in dramatics will know, the first act of this play won the Vancouver Island elimination contest of the Dominion Drama Festival.

Directed by W. J. Davis, "The Skin Game" repeated this success, and showed that it could hold its audience throughout the entire three hours as it did when it climaxed the imagination of the adjudicator with an excerpt.

"The Skin Game" shows the struggle between the old and the new, between the aristocrat, Hillcrest, and the industrialist, Hornblower. John Galsworthy has made Hillcrest the typical English squire, who believes in the sanctity of a gentleman's agreement. But in his gentleness and complete inability to cope with the underhand schemings of his wife, the sympathy of the audience swings to Hornblower, when he spits in his face and calls him a hypocrite at the end of the play.

The first act is cast in Hillcrest's study, where the gouty aristocrat reproaches Hornblower for throwing out his tenants when he had promised not to do so. The audience senses an undercurrent when Mrs. Hillcrest orders Chole, Hornblower's daughter-in-law, out of the room.

In the second act Chole pleads with Dawker, one of Hillcrest's retainers, not to tell of her past.

The third act returns to Hillcrest's study where Hornblower, faced with the proof that Chole was employed in divorce suits before her marriage, is blackmailed into signing an agreement to resell the land which has been bought from the Hillcrests at a much lower figure. But Dawker cannot keep his mouth shut and spreads Chole's past in contravention of the agreement. Chole attempts suicide, and while her body is brought into the library, Hornblower and Fowler struggle for the signed agreement in Dawker's pocket. The play ends with Hillcrest expressing horror over the whole business.

MAGNIFICENT PERFORMANCE

Fred Spencer repeated the truly magnificent performance of Hornblower, which won him the award as the best actor in the elimination contest of the drama festival. The Breton family, Anne as Jill, the very modern young daughter of Hillcrest, and Basil Breton as Hillcrest, were excellent.

Noel Cusack was emotional in the part of Chole, which called for the maximum of emoting. Fraser-Lister was distinctly unpleasant as the snake-like Dawker. Pat Fairweather was cold and distant as only Mrs. Hillcrest could be.

Among the minor roles Alec McGowan was outstanding as the butler, a role which brought him praise from the drama festival adjudicator; J. E. McLaren and William Findlay took the parts of Hornblower's sons; Art Long and Vera Trueman were cast as the selected tenants; while W. B. Crowley, Arthur Wood and M. C. Trueman completed the cast.

Behind the scenes Leslie Lamb, production manager, and Boyd McGill, scenic artist, deserve special praise.

HALIBUT PLAN BEFORE BOARD

Marketing Scheme For Coast Fishery to Be Considered

A new scheme, under the B.C. Marketing Act, for halibut is now before the provincial marketing board for approval. It was learned today.

The scheme would take the place of a former arrangement under the Dominion marketing law. It would bring under market rules the 500 Canadian fishermen in the industry.

The halibut catch is regulated by quota of the International Fisheries Commission but the marketing scheme is devised so that this catch can be spread over a longer season to provide a steady supply for the market, it is stated.

DIFFICULT TO PLACE LOANS

U.S. Government Competition Hits Private Firms, Says Chicago Operator

Private mortgage concerns find it very difficult to get satisfactory mortgage investments in competition with the federal housing administration in the United States, states Robert F. Winyard, president of the Great Lakes Mortgage Corporation of Chicago, Ill., who is at the Empress Hotel today.

"The federal housing administration lends up to 80 per cent on land and buildings, where we shudder at 60 per cent," he said.

"It takes companies to do business. But we'll have to grin and bear it, I suppose," he said. Mr. and Mrs. Winyard are going to Honolulu for a holiday and will sail by Ss. Empress of Japan tomorrow evening. They plan to return this way by Ss. Empress of Canada.

Montanan Here On Semi-annual Trip

"Well, here I am again!" exclaimed George W. Robbie, Missoula, Mont., druggist, who has made more visits to Victoria than he can remember, as he unpacked his bags at the Empress Hotel.

Twice a year, each spring and fall, Mr. Robbie has the urge to come here, and he has been doing it without fail for years.

He thinks there is no place just like Victoria, and but for the fact that his business interests are in Montana, he might be inclined to come out here to settle.

He spends more time on the coast since he retired, leaving his son to manage the business he built up in Missoula.

Rochester, N.Y. (Canadian Press)—A 58 per cent drop in traffic deaths among 70,000 school children within five years has proved the value of safe-driving training. About 160,500 youngsters and adults got safety instruction from the police department.

Three Murders In Next Movie

"Murder Goes North," With Rin-Tin-Tin Jr., Will Be Mountie Story

"Murder Goes North" is the title chosen for the eighth movie to be made in Victoria by Central Films Limited. The name is an apt one, for there are three murders in the story, the synopsis of which was received by Kenneth J. Bishop, producer, yesterday.

Production of the picture will start shortly after the completion of "Women Against the World," work on which is at present well advanced at the Willows studios of the company.

Rin-Tin-Tin Jr., son of the famous dog actor and himself well known on the screen, will be brought here by his trainer, Lee Duncan, for the picture. Bob Allen will take the leading male role.

MOUNTED POLICE STORY

The story concerns the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and its location is supposed to be the foothills of the Rockies. Mr. Bishop is confident he will be able to find the right sort of scenery on Vancouver Island.

Work on "Women Against the World" is going forward well. Yesterday afternoon Grant Macdonald, who for many months has stood behind the camera as still photographer, came against in front of them in one of the supporting parts in the picture at a smart-alec member of a detective agency. His role involved him in a three-sided conversation with Alice Moore, leading lady of the picture, and James McGrath.

This morning the company was again at work on the detective agency set.

EXPLAIN DELAY ON AMENDMENT

Bondholders' Representative States Principals on Committee Scattered

An explanation of unavoidable delays in reaching a decision on Victoria's proposed amendment to the Fortin refunding scheme, was made to C. S. Henley, fiscal agent, in a telegram from the representatives of eastern bondholders late yesterday.

Several of the important figures on the bondholders' committee were located in different parts, one in New York, another in London, Ontario, and others in Montreal and Toronto, the telegram indicated. It required time to secure their opinions on the proposal regarding the establishment of an equalization fund on interest.

Mr. Henley expressed the hope a decision would be reached on the matter next week.

In the auditorium of Mount View High School next Wednesday, MacKenzie Avenue School will give a concert in the form of a mock radio television broadcast. Among the items will be some by the school choir, vocal and instrumental soloists, the boys' choir and a variety of dance groups.

CLOTHES washed with ordinary bar soaps look dull against the dazzling whiteness that Pearl White Naptha gives. And actual tests by housewives proved that Pearl makes clothes whiter with only a few minutes light rubbing. For the rich Pearl suds loosen dirt that hard rubbing with ordinary soaps cannot budge. They are so full of washing power that they just float dirt out.

Tests also proved that Pearl is more economical—that it makes clothes last longer—that Pearl is kinder to the hands, too. So be sure to ask for Pearl White Naptha Soap. You'll have a dazzling white wash and an easy washday.

FARMERS TO AIR PROBLEMS

Metchosin Sheep Breeders
Suggest Convention Be Held Here

Metchosin, March 19.—The annual meeting of the Metchosin Sheep Breeders' Association was held in the Community Hall on Wednesday evening, with F. G. Waide in the chair. The chairman suggested that the farmers of British Columbia should hold a convention in Victoria in the near future to discuss their problems. This, on being put to the meeting as a motion, was passed unanimously.

The governments of today, either provincial or federal, remarked Mr. Waide, were not facing the real problems of the farmer because any move to improve his lot would mean a higher living cost for the voter. The farmers should stress their needs through their institutes, but at the same time should not let any political body do the steering for them through their advisory boards.

A motion was passed that the secretary write to the authorities asking that a stricter check be kept on dogs in the Metchosin sheep district, and in cases where the owners cannot afford licenses dogs should be destroyed.

Election of officers resulted as follows: President, F. G. Waide; vice-president, G. F. Weir; secretary-treasurer, F. Reid; directors, W. O. Sweetman, J. B. Edwards, G. Ball and J. Rainey; auditor, R. Weir; alternate, W. G. Milsted.

STORIES IN STAMPS

BY I. S. KLEIN

HE LED THE
MARCH TO THE SEA

Explosive, red-haired, William Tecumseh Sherman had retired from army life in 1850 to enter a growing business and legal career. But the Civil War called him and soon he became one of the wildest leaders of the Union forces.

Shiloh, Vicksburg, Chattanooga, Knoxville tested his courage and craftiness. In 1864 he was ordered to move on Atlanta.

Thus began Sherman's famous 1,000-mile sweep through the Carolinas and Georgia, despite the courageous defence of the retreating Gen. Joseph E. Johnston. Gen. John B. Hood replaced Johnston in the defence of Atlanta, but the Union invaders were indomitable.

Sherman then undertook the destructive trek of 300 miles to Savannah that today is praised by some and deplored by others.

Sherman remained in the army after the war, became highest in command under President Grant, and retired in 1884. He died in 1891, at the age of seventy-one. His picture is at the left of the trio on the new three-cent army stamp.

SQUEEZES BOTH SIDES

Declarer Makes Precarious Small Slam by Forcing Good Cards From Hands of Two Opponents

By WM. E. MCKENNEY

Had South in today's hand not mastered the principle of the squeeze, he would have been forced to concede "down one" on his somewhat optimistic contract of six hearts. But South was a strong player and knew all the fine points upon which experts depend when ordinary methods will not produce the trick or tricks needed to fulfill the contract.

When he saw the dummy, South's only hope apparently was that the spades would break evenly. He won the first trick with the queen. Then cashed the ace of spades.

Today's Contract Problem

South has bid three no trump, after having opened with a bid of one spade. North has bid hearts and supported spades. West can count four apparently sure tricks, and has two or more possible tricks, in addition. Should he double South's last bid?

Now a trump was led to dummy, and the queen of spades returned South discarded a diamond.

West took the trick with the king and led a diamond. South won with the king, East playing the jack.

South's next play was four rounds of trump. West was forced to discard down to the ten and nine of spades, and the king and jack of clubs. Dummy held the jack and seven of spades, the ace of diamonds and the nine of clubs.

East held the queen and six of diamonds, and the queen and ten of clubs. Declarer held the ten and four of diamonds, and ace and deuce of clubs.

STOP AND GO DRIVING IS COSTLY

It's not the long steady runs that burn up your gasoline . . . it's the constant stopping and starting.

Every time you start up from a normal traffic stop, you can waste enough gasoline to drive a third of a mile.

Yet the average motorist makes thirty stops and starts every day!

To cut down the high cost of today's stop-and-go driving, Shell engineers developed a way to "balance" gasoline.

This balancing process rearranges the entire chemical structure of gasoline—makes it "digestible" for your engine —just as cooking makes food digestible for you.

When you're starting . . . shifting . . . accelerating, at all times your motor gets the full benefit of Super-Shell's high energy content.

Economy is greater because stop-and-go driving waste is reduced.

"Motor-digestible" is the best way to describe this gasoline.

Super-Shell is on sale from coast to coast. There's a friendly Shell dealer in your neighborhood. Be thrifty. Stop in and fill up your tank today.

New Stamps In Canada April 1

Ottawa, March 19.—The new issue of Canadian postage stamps bearing a portrait of King George VI shows him full-face. The Post Office Department has released a photograph of the 3-cent issue which, it said, would serve to illustrate the entire series.

The red 3-cent, brown 3-cent, and green 1-cent denominations will be issued April 1. The blue 4-cent, blue 5-cent and orange 8-cent denominations will be issued probably about May 12, date of the coronation.

Identification Is Difficult Task

Some of Victims of Texas School Explosion Mangled Beyond Recognition

Associated Press

Dallas, Texas, March 19.—The most appalling aspects of the London Consolidated School disaster were described today by two Dallas undertakers who cared for some of the twisted bodies of the hundreds of child victims.

"Indescribable is an inadequate word," Jerome Crane said. "We went immediately to the Overton funeral home. There were at least seventy-five bodies there. At least twenty of them will never be identified, unless parents are able to do so from remnants of clothing."

"Barton Beatty and I personally cared for the bodies of seventeen children between the ages of ten and seventeen. They were the most horribly mangled remains of human beings either of us had ever seen."

TALK OF CREMATION

Crane said that when he left the scene this morning, there was considerable discussion of the necessity for cremation.

Crane believed the injured were comparatively few.

It was a case of instant death or actual, almost miraculous, escape," he said.

He believed the injured will number fewer than 100.

The actual time of the explosion was established at 3.05 p.m., Crane said. "Watches on the dismembered wrists of at least two boys had stopped at that time," he said.

Mr. King, in New York On Way to Ottawa, Expresses Sympathy With Texas

Canadian Press

New York, March 19.—Deeply moved by news of the tragedy which took the lives of hundreds of school children in a Texas school explosion yesterday afternoon, Mr. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister of Canada, expressed most sincere sympathy today on his arrival in this city.

The Premier is on his way back to Canada after a week's holiday on the Virginia coast. He arrived in New York shortly after dawn and plans to leave for Ottawa, via Montreal, tonight.

"It is a terrible tragedy," said Mr. King. "I am sure all Canadians are as shocked as I am to hear about it, and that they join me in expressing condolences to the bereaved parents and relatives of the victims."

RESTED AFTER HOLIDAY

The Premier looked rested and refreshed from his holiday as he stepped from the train. He hurried off to the Harvard Club, where he expected to remain until his train time tonight.

It was stated that at Virginia Beach, outside Norfolk, Virginia, the Prime Minister prepared for the Imperial Conference, scheduled for London in May.

Famous Singer at the Capitol

famed star of opera, stage, screen and radio, who has the leading role in the new picture "When You're in Love," which is now the feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre.

The love story of a beautiful Puritan maiden and a dashing Virginia cavalier, laid against one of the most amazing periods in American history, brought Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray to the Dominion Theatre today in "Maid of Salem," a lavish and beautiful production produced and directed by Frank Lloyd.

The famous witchcraft hysteria of 1692, which began in Salem and spread to the other colonies, forms the background of "Maid of Salem."

Miss Colbert, an orphan in old Salem, incurs the animosity of the stern townsfolk by her gaiety. She meets and falls in love with MacMurray, a fugitive cavalier from Virginia, who is hiding in the home of his uncle.

The elaborate cast includes Harvey Stephens, Louise Dresser, Bennie Barlett, Gifford Sandberg, E. E. Clive, Bonita Granville, Virginia Weldier, Rosita Butler, Beulah Bondi and Donald Meek.

"Arizona Mahoney," starring Joe Cook, is the second picture on the programme.

VALUABLE FAN SEEN IN FILM

When Empress Carlotta appeared in the court of Napoleon III and asked for aid in maintaining the Empire of Mexico, she little dreamed the fan she carried would be seen by millions, some seventy-five years later, during 1936 and 1937.

That fan, nevertheless, is to be seen in "The Charge of the Light Brigade," the Warner Bros. picture, which comes to the Atlas Theatre today.

It is carried by Olivia de Havilland. A museum piece insured at $1,000 by its owner, a Los Angeles jeweler, the fan is handpainted and made of pure white ivory. The empress received it as a wedding present from her husband, the famous Emperor Maximilian.

PLAZA THEATRE

A true picture of the early American Indian and the early American pioneer is offered in "The Last of the Mohicans," the Republic Pictures' colorful filmization of the immortal James Fenimore Cooper classic which is being shown at the Plaza Theatre today, with Randolph Scott, Binnie Barnes and Henry Wilcoxon heading a truly all-star cast.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

CAPITOL THEATRE

Grace Moore in "When You're in Love" is now at the Capitol Theatre. Supporting the lovely Miss Moore in "When You're in Love" are Cary Grant, who plays the leading male role; Aline MacMahon, Henry Stephenson, Thomas Mitchell, Catharine Doucet and Luis Alberni. Robert Riskin wrote and directed the picture.

OAK BAY THEATRE

Beatrice Roberts, former Ziegfeld beauty and the only girl to win the "Miss New York" title two years in succession at the Atlantic City beauty pageant, makes her debut as George O'Brien's leading lady in "Park Avenue Logger," RKO Radio picture, showing all this week at the Oak Bay Theatre.

She is seen as Peggy O'Shea, pretty daughter of a crippled lumberman who tries to save her father's timber business from bankruptcy against the plotting of two scheming lumberjack foremen. George O'Brien, as Yesterday evening the Anyox was 945 miles from Victoria, according to a report picked up at the Gonzales Wireless Station.

The Anyox expects to bring her charge into the Inner Harbor late Sunday evening, or early Monday morning, depending on weather conditions on the open ocean.

The Star of Holland will be converted at Victoria in a giant barge, for the handling of hog fuel between coast ports.

Mariners to Get Pension Scheme

Canadian Press

London, March 19.—There is to be a pension scheme for 23,000 officers in the deep-sea British mercantile navy, which shipowners believe is the largest ever introduced.

Officers will contribute 3½ per cent of their earnings, and shipowners 3½ per cent. But most of the officers are to receive salary increases of 2 to 16 per cent, which will more than cover their pension contributions.

SIR TOM TO RACE AGAIN

Trim "R" Class Yacht to Be Re-commissioned and Will Be Seen in Action

Of interest to local yachtsmen, and all who have seen her race, is the announcement that the dean of the Pacific Northwest's "R" class yachts, Sir Tom, will be re-commissioned within a few weeks and again this summer will try for honors at the annual Pacific International Yacht Association regatta.

The "Tommy," as she is affectionately known among the yachting fraternity of the northwest, is indeed a veteran—being twenty-three years of age, which is old for a yacht of her class. She was built in 1914 and has had an adventurous career. Several times she has been downed and yachtsmen have feared she was through. But she has always bobbed up serenely, as she is doing at present, and when she will stage a comeback is never known.

For fifteen years Sir Tom has dominated "R" class races at northwest regattas. She had a long string of victories, until 1929 when Lady Van of Vancouver took the prize Sir Thomas Lipton trophy to Vancouver. Only once since then, in 1934, has Puget Sound had this trophy. That year Live Yankee won it. Last year, however, Lady Van recaptured it in the regatta off Esquimalt. Sir Tom snatched her last year in the regatta.

Now this trim, forty-foot sloop, with the lovely lines, is at the Winslow Marine Landing at Seattle's Eagle Harbor, awaiting another year of racing. She will again be skippered by Arthur Ayres, native son of Victoria and step-son of Capt. James Griffiths, dean of Pacific Coast yachtsmen and master of the big steam yacht Sueja III.

Britain Watches Naval Gun Move

Canadian Press from Havas

London, March 19.—Great Britain intended to maintain the qualitative provisions of the London treaty-power naval accord, but might have to reconsider if other countries imitate Japan's reported plan to arm its capital ships with sixteen-inch guns, the first Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Samuel Hoare, said in the House of Commons yesterday.

Discussion of the naval estimates brought reminders of Japan's semi-official announcement that it would not adhere to those clauses of the pact fixing fourteen-inch guns as the maximum armament for 35,000-ton battleships.

The figures for height are in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

Queer Propeller Has No Buble

The propeller is not broken; it is built with one blade on the sliver plane shown above with Lieut. Arthur S. Pierce, just after he had landed in Chicago on a cross-country test flight. Inventor W. W. Everts, Baltimore, claims this blade eliminates the backwash "buble" of two-blade propellers.

Passengers taking the two-week cruise return with the Prince Charles from Prince Rupert to the islands and return to Vancouver from there.

On the Queen Charlotte trip the Prince Charles will sail from Vancouver June 12, 26, July 10 and 24, and August 7 and 21.

The dinner, which will be a stag affair, will take place in the Spanish ballroom of the Olympic Hotel.

Sunday the passenger men will devote to golf and sightseeing drives. Luncheon will be at the Olympic Golf Club, overlooking Puget Sound and the Olympic Mountains.

There is a proposal that Northwest passenger men meet each year, alternately in Vancouver, Seattle and Spokane for this dinner.

The heavy movement of cannery and mining supplies means industry is awakening to seasonal activity. Passengers also are heading north and this fact is borne out by the list on the ship, which was fully booked weeks ago.
